150,000 Population Predicted For County Coastline

UNIFICATION INTO ONE BIG CITY IS SEEN

Beach Area's Development Expected by Speaker at Coast Association Meet

W. Travis, World Traveller, Paints Picture of World's Greatest Center

DANA POINT, May 11.—Predictions that the Orange county coast will be one big city, with a population in excess of 150,000 persons, within the next 10 years were made here last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association. Dr. S. Frasier, world traveler; W. Travis, another well known globe trotter, and George Hannan, civil engineer for the Dana Point organization, all predicted rapid growth for the coast section.

Dr. Frasier, in a brief address, pointed out that beach frontage along the east coast near New York City was commanding immense sums and could be used only half the year, while in Southern California the beach can be used the year around. He also reported that, because of the many bays in the vicinity of New York, there is more than 700 miles of coast available there, while in Southern California there is only about 200 miles of beach frontage.

A prediction that the greatest city in the world would lay between Santa Barbara and San Diego in 1945 was made by Travis. He spoke highly of the facilities in Southern California and compared the districts here with the Riviera and other European resorts.

Reviews Development

Edward Trefz, formerly associated with Herbert Hoover in World war work and at present connected with the Dana Point organization, presented the main address of the evening. His talk opened with a short review of Southern California's development. He also spoke of the difference in sports of today and when he went to school.

A committee of five persons, composed of J. S. Malcolm, of San Juan Capistrano; H. H. Crenshaw, of Laguna Beach; K. I. Fulton, of Newport Beach; L. C. Denslow, of Huntington Beach, and George Hannon, of Dana Point, was appointed to attend

STEWART'S HEARING SET FOR WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON, May 11—In response to a petition filed by Robert W. Stewart, of the Indiana Standard Oil, seeking dismissal of the senate contempt indictment against him because he later appeared before the senate Teapot Dome committee and testified fully, the District of Columbia supreme court today set next Wednesday for arguments.

U. S. Attorney Rover filed a reply asserting that Stewart must go on trial May 21 as scheduled, because there is no provision of law suspending prosecution because of the belated effort to make amends.

Screen City Man Held As Wife Slayer

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—murder of Mrs. May Winnett Randolph, who died February 3, was charged to her husband, Jack W. Randolph, Hollywood broker, in a formal complaint today.

According to Deputy District Attorney Clifford Thoma, who issued the complaint, the grand jury will be asked Monday to indict Randolph for murder.

After receiving a report from autopsy surgeons, who exhumed Mrs. Randolph's body, Deputy District Attorney Thoma said an investigation of her vital organs revealed poison in large quantities.

Attorney W. H. Harris, representing Randolph, described the arrest as an outrage and said he would go before superior court this afternoon, seeking the release of his client on a writ of habeas corpus.

WOMEN'S CLUB BEATS MOVE TO REAPPORTION

Proposal to Change Representation Defeated at San Diego Meet

(By United Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 11.—Delegates to the California Federation of Women's Clubs today had voted down a proposal to change the method of club representation in the federation. The count of yesterday's ballot this morning showed that the proposal lacked the necessary two-thirds majority to pass.

The vote was 292 against and 510 for.

Mrs. W. W. Green, Sacramento, state president, ordered the ballot boxes locked last night and a count not taken until this morning to prevent "any turmoil or disappointment at the annual banquet," held last night.

Charges that "outside influences," fearing united political power of the federation, have promoted the representation strife developed in an address before the convention yesterday by Lyman Bryson, political and international relations authority.

Several women, prominent in the organization, are known to have declared certain interests in the state have promoted the representation quarrels, fearing political weight or united California clubwomen.

SMITH INDORSED AT NEVADA CONVENTION

RENO, Nev., May 11—Al Smith's candidacy for president was unanimously indorsed by the Nevada Democratic convention here tdoay.

Twelve national delegates with one-half vote each were instructed to support the New York governor as long as his name was before the national convention in Houston.

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Fourteen-year-old Maxine Thomson wouldn't walk home from school yesterday with 16-year-old Wayne Schroder, so last night Schroder went to the apartment house where she lived and, sending a bullet through his head, fell dead outside the rooms she occupied.

He left a note which read:

"Well, Maxine, goodbye. If there is any remembering, I'll remember you. God forgive me. I love you."

$42,032.16 SPENT BY HOOVER FORCES, CAMPAIGN DIRECTOR TELLS COMMITTEE

Contributions Total $49,150, Good Reveals

$5000 Tendered by Edsel Ford Largest Individual Gift

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Hoover-for-President organization has spent $2,032.16 and accepted contributions of $49,150, James R. Good, campaign director, told the senate campaign investigating committee today.

The largest contributor was Edsel Ford, son of the Detroit automobile manufacturer, Good said. Ford gave $5000.

Senator Walter Edge, Republican, New Jersey, was listed with a donation of $1000.

"Shortly after President Coolidge announced he would not be a candidate, friends of Mr. Hoover started organizing in various states," Good said.

"Our organization was made primarily to answer questions which were being propounded to the secretary."

"As Good As Nominated"

Good said Hoover was "as good as nominated." Senator McMaster, Republican, South Dakota, objected that Good was making a campaign speech when he discussed Hoover's availability.

Chairman Steiwer insisted the witness be permitted to laud Hoover in any way he chose, "although in my opinion, it is irrelevant." Good, thereupon, was permitted to continue his statement.

Former Representative Phil Campbell today was the first witness. He testified he was president of a local Curtis-for-president organization and had spent $472.25. Contributions amounted, he said, to $590.

The contributions listed by Good included:

REACH AGREEMENT ON FARM MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 11.—House and senate conferees reached agreement today on the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill and the report will be presented tomorrow. It is expected to be called up for votes in both houses Monday.

The equalization fee, objected to by President Coolidge, was not in dispute. The conferees, however, eliminated fruits and vegetables from the fee's operations.

Fruit and vegetable co-operatives, however, may borrow from the government loan fund under the compromise.

The conference report would give commodity councils a veto power on operation of the equalization fee in their commodity. The bill carries authorization for a $400,000,000 revolving fund for operation of the marketing of crops.

RELEASE MAN ARRESTED AS KILLER SUSPECT

Fingerprints Prove Tatooed Hands Not Those of Bandit Slayer

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Although he was tattooed similarly, Arthur Pryor was not the man wanted in San Diego for murder and he was released a few hours after he was arrested here this morning.

Pryor was taken into custody when it was discovered that the words "true" and "love" were tattooed across his hands. The same words were tattooed on the hands of one of two bandits who shot and killed Joe Malloy in a theater holdup in San Diego, May 7.

Fingerprints and pictures revealed that Pryor was not the man wanted.

Pryor was apprehended when he attempted to purchase a bus ticket from a driver of the Pickwick Stage company.

The driver noted the words "true" and "love" tattooed on the hands of Pryor and, remembering that a radio broadcast had described the San Diego murderer in that manner, called police.

The San Diego murder took place when two bandits held up a theater here. The manager, Joe Malloy, was shot to death.

Later police shot and killed one of the pair, but the other escaped.

CLEVELAND, O., May 11.—Establishment of a six-hour working day on the railroads of America was recommended in a resolution passed here today by the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen.

Clarence Kelly Smiles As He Goes To Death

Leader of Murder Band Is Hanged on Gallows of San Quentin

(By United Press)

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., May 11.—Carrying out his declaration that he would die smiling, Clarence "Buck" Kelly, convicted leader of a San Francisco "terror band" that killed three men, was hanged here today.

The trap was sprung at 10:04 a. m., and 13 minutes later Dr. L. L. Stanley, the prison physician, pronounced Kelly dead.

Kelly entered the death chamber with a guard on either side. He was accompanied by Father Raymond Kelly, of San Rafael. As he mounted the gallows he made good his boast that he would smile—but the jaunty air displayed by the killer up to the eve of his execution was lacking.

He looked neither right nor left as he took his position on the trap. Father Kelly began praying as the black cap was slipped over Kelly's head and the condemned man repeated the prayer after him.

Four Men Faint

Warden James Holohan stepped to one side and the trap was sprung almost simultaneously. Four of the 200 men crowded into the chamber fainted.

Kelly was dressed in a dark blue suit. He walked firmly and the two guards were present for formality rather than for support.

Among the spectators were C. W. Johnson and Louis Ferrando, San Francisco men, wounded in holdups attributed to Kelly's band.

While the death scene was enacted, two sisters waited in a room of the prison to take charge of the body.

The prisoner's mother remained in the San Francisco home with three younger children of the family.

Joseph Kelly, the father, confined in San Quentin's "crank alley," where prisoners are under observation for mental condition, semed indifferent as the hour for

Promise Thorough Inquiry Into Washington Utilities

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The federal trade commission intends to make a searching investigation of charges by Homer T. Bone, Seattle attorney, that utilities interests have introduced propaganda textbooks into the schools of Washington.

"We will certainly go to the bottom of this Washington situation just as in all other states," Commissioner Edgar A. McCullough, presiding in the utilities inquiry, said today.

A telegram from Bone, received by the commission yesterday, charged that one Washington state school official had accepted pay for editing certain supplementary textbooks introduced in Washington schools at the behest of the Puget Sound Power and Light company.

"Many letters and telegrams similar to Mr. Bone's have been received from other states since we started this inquiry," McCullough said.

All such communications, he added, are being preserved and wherever the writer is believed to have important information an investigator is sent to talk with him.

The commission decided that activities of municipalities or city owned plants are not within the province of the present inquiry.

The charges against Los Angeles had been made by Representative Douglas, Democrat, Arizona.

The commission declined today to broaden its inquiry to investigate charges that the city of Los Angeles has financed extensive propaganda in favor of Boulder dam development.

CORRUPTION AND TAMMANY HIT BY EDITOR IN DEBATE

Says It Would Be Insanity To Elect Smith to Presidency

By A. B. BERRY

CORRUPTION, the vices of Tammany Hall, reasons why Alfred Smith should not be elected president of the United States, failure of the prohibition amendment, Smith's record and facts and figures purporting to show why prohibition is a failure, were all brought out in a heated debate between J. Frank Burke, editor and publisher of The Register and Lew Head, well known Pasadena newspaperman, at the First Methodist church last night, to which approximately 300 persons listened.

The debate, the subject of which was announced as, Resolved: "That the Election of Al Smith or Jim Reed, as President of the United States Would Be Disastrous to the Welfare of the Nation," with Burke maintaining the affirmative and Head on the negative side, resolved into a more or less wet and dry argument, so far as Head was concerned, he failing to discuss the candidates on the grounds that he had been misinformed and had come to Santa Ana to "make a speech against prohibition."

Burke's opening speech was an avalanche against Smith, however, he declaring that he would limit his time to discussing Smith as Reed's nomination was not even a remote possibility. Like Head, in his rebuttal, he took up the wet and dry question of the campaign.

DIVERS HUNT FOR BODY OF AVIATOR

SAN PEDRO, Calif., May 11.—Divers continued to search today for the body of Lt. Joseph J. Rooney, naval aviator, killed yesterday when his airplane crashed into the sea while he was attempting a landing on the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Lexington, cruising off Oceanside.

First reports of the accident indicated Lieutenant Rooney's body was recovered shortly after the accident. However, it was said today that divers had been unable to locate the flyer's body.

VICE SQUAD CHIEF RETURNED TO DUTY

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Capt. Charles F. Jackson, head of the police vice squad, returned to his desk today, the police commission having dismissed charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty preferred against him by Chief of Police James Davis.

The commission required only five minutes to bring in its verdict that Jackson was not guilty. More than a score of witnesses testified for and against the officer.

Chief Davis told the commission he suspended Jackson only because of the charges of vice conditions made by a morning newspaper. Representatives of that newspaper testified that such vice conditions existed, but stated that they held no brief for Jackson and were interested only in ridding the city of gambling houses.

FIND NO TRACE OF WOMAN'S ATTACKER

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—The search for an assailant who allegedly attacked, beat unconscious and then attempted to bury Mrs. Howard Billings alive Thursday night apparently had ended in failure today.

The stores of deputy sheriffs working on the case had reported no trace of the strange man and it was indicated the quest would be discontinued today if a search in Turnbull canyon, near Whittier, did not turn up new information. Turnbull canyon was the scene of the asserted attempt to bury Mrs. Billings.

Condition of Mrs. Billings was reported serious but not critical today.

Tsinan Falls Before Japanese Attack

TSINGTAO, China, May 11.—Tsinan has fallen before the vigorous drive of the Japanese expeditionary forces and the Chinese Nationalist army has evacuated, it was learned here today.

Vigorous fighting preceded the rout of General Shiang Kai-Shek's remaining forces, estimated at about 2000.

The remnants of the southern army for hours had bitterly resisted the Japanese approach and had signalled they would not surrender, even though Japanese planes whirled overhead and the Japanese gunners laid down a steady barrage on the walled city.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Payment of legitimate campaign expenses by the government was advocated by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, during a senate debate today on the Cutting election reform bill.

CAMPAIGN LOG

Hoke Smith of Georgia, secretary of the interior in the Cleveland administration said he believed Governor Smith would be the Democratic presidential nominee.

Former Governor Samuel McKelvay of Nebraska said that an attempt to combine the anti-Hoover sentiment in the mid-western corn and the conservative quarters of the east would fail to defeat the commerce secretary for the Republican nomination.

Campaign managers for Herbert Hoover and Senator Charles Curtis were called before the senate campaign investigating committee today.

Tennessee Democrats in convention instructed their 24 delegates to vote for Representative Cordell Hull at the Democratic national convention.

Fourteen of Utah's 16 Democratic delegates, with one-half vote each, decided to vote for Governor Smith at the Houston convention. The delegation has been instructed.

[illegible], a member of Senator Reed's [illegible] committee, announced that a prominent southern Democrat had consented to head a third party movement. He would not divulge the name.

U. S. WOMAN IS MURDERED BY NATIONALISTS

The evacuation of the entrenchments within the walled city, a section adjoining the main commercial area of Tsinan, came after the Chinese Chamber of Commerce had intervened.

In Sudden Flight

The army fled suddenly, leaving the Japanese in control of the city. Already they had cleared a path between their lines and the walled city and had taken over part of that stronghold.

The Japanese were halting their fire to demand surrender when the Chinese evacuated the city.

The Japanese made a bitter attack to advance through the area surrounding the walled city and captured and disarmed a number of scattered Chinese units. The Chinese resisted, but could present no solid front.

Once the Japanese arrived at the walled city they advanced, took about half of it and then started surrender actics.

Airplanes were sent over the entrenched Chinese soldiers and the flyers dropped leaflets advising the Chinse to surrender. The Chinees would not do this.

For about three hours this practice went on and finally the 2000 besieged troopers evacuated the city.

Nine Japs Slain, 117 Wounded

TOKIO, May 11.—Japanese casualties were nine killed and 117 wounded in today's fighting with Chinese Nationalists in the city of Tsinan, it was announced officially. Chinese casualties were huge.

Chinese Envoy Will Confer With Kellogg

PARIS, May 11.—Dr. C. C. Wu, former foreign minister of the Nanking government and now Nationalist delegate to Paris, announced today he would sail immediately for the United States to confer with Secretary of State Kellogg and to lay the entire Shantung situation before the American people.

"The tremendous issues involved affect the Americans only slightly less than the Chinese," Dr. Wu told the United Press. "It is necessary, therefore, that America decide what action, if any, should be taken.

"The dispatch of large military forces into Shantung obviously is a violation of the treaties in Washington in 1922," Dr. Wu said. He was asked the relation between the present Japanese-Chinese situation and Japan's 21 demands on China in 1925, and he said that Foreign Minister Tanaka had advocated this aggressive policy.

"Now Tanaka is both premier and foreign minister and is thereby enabled to continue his previous policy to a greater degree," the Chinese delegate said.

CAMP REUNION AT Y. M. C. A. TO BE SATURDAY

Boys' Secretary T. P. McKee has announced a general "camp reunion" for Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A., from 6:45 to 9 o'clock.

All boys who have ever attended the Y. M. C. A. camp, together with all who have any intention of attending this year, are invited to attend the rally, and enjoy a genuine camp program.

The fun will start, as usual, with a swim for the boys, followed by a "campfire" program and refreshments. The entertainment will center about camp activities and stunts which will renew pleasant memories of past seasons at Camp Osceola, and give a foretaste of the coming camp.

McKee reports a splendid interest in the boys' camp for this year. He has already enrolled nearly 30 boys out of the possible 70 who can be taken to Osceola in June, and he expects to have the quota filled in a short time.

The camp for Santa Ana older boys will open on June 21, to continue for two weeks. The younger boys, under 12 years of age, will have a week in camp from August 16 to 23. This camp period for younger boys can have only about 25 boys accommodated in it.

Reservations for both camps are now being received, and McKee states that he expects to have a waiting list for places before the opening dates. These camps are open to boys who are not members of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department who are willing to enter into the program of play and work and study which the camp offers.

the railroad commission hearing, May 17, in the Newport Beach city hall. The hearing will concern motor bus applications. The committee will ask that stops be made at all coast communities by the busses.

The state highway commission will easked by the association to paint a white line down the center of the pavement for a mile west of Coffee Shell beach, near Laguna, it was decided. Three fatalities have occurred in the district during the last few months, it was pointed out at the meeting.

J. S. Malcolm, president of the San Juan Capistrano Chamber of Commerce, reported on the Capistrano-Elsinore highway through the Santa Ana mountains. Efforts are being made by the chambers of commerce of Capistrano, Elsinore, San Jacinto and Perris to have the proposed road incorporated in the federal highway system.

Cheap Money Predicted

W. C. Miller, Seal Beach banker, predicted tcheap money in the near future and urged the association to wait before starting the campaign to widen the coast highway to 56 feet. He predicted that money could be secured for public improvements at a rate of three and one-half cents in the near future.

A number of other speakers addressed the meeting, including S. H. Woodruff, who presided; J. S. Farquhar, of Huntington Beach; Hal Forest, Laguna Beach; K. I. Fulton, Newport Beach; L. J. Burrud, Dana Point; D. J. Dodge, Costa Mesa; V. D. Johnson, Orange; Charles H. Owen, artist for the Los Angeles Times, and Hallam Cooley, of Hollywood, motion picture man.

The association members were served a lamb bar ecue, in old Spanish style, with all the trimmings. Don Juan Foster, of San Juan Capistrano, was in charge of the barbecue, which was served in the Dana Point auditorium. The next meeting of the association is to be held June 14 in Laguna Beach.

HABEAS CORPUS PLEA WITHDRAWN

J. B. Neel, Laguna Beach official of the bankrupt Coast Industries Inc., charged with conspiracy to violate the corporate securities act, withdrew his habeus corpus application from Superior Judge Homer G. Ames' court today.

The petition was entered last Friday, and pointed out Neel's contention that his preliminary examination did not warrant his being held to answer on the charge. He had surrendered himself to the sheriff for the purpose of the proceeding and had posted a $5000 bond for his release.

Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman stated at that time that surrender for the purpose of gaining a habeus corpus writ had not been countenanced by the courts and Neel's attorney asked for a continuance in order to investigate authorities.

Neel is scheduled to be tried before Superior Judge James L. Allen on July 9. The charge arose from his alleged acts in connection with the Laguna Beach company, against which a number of civil suits have been filed, alleging that its stock had been issued without permission from the corporation commiioer of California.

SCHEDULE CHANGED BY MOTOR TRANSIT

Changes in time schedules of the Motor Transit company were announced today by Cliff Ulyatt, superintendent of the Santa Ana division.

L. A. CHURCH IS AGAINST PLAN ADOPTED HERE

Members of the Wilshire Congregational church in Los Angeles have declined to follow the recommendation of the conference in session here this week, and the two factions will continue to fight for control of the church.

The conference recommended that the two pastors and the two sets of officers resign and leave solution of the problem to a council of the conference.

The Rev. Frank Dyer's followers met at the church last night pledged him their unwavering loyalty and support and declared the position of the conference as "absurd and intolerable."

"It seems to us utterly unthinkable for a state conference to sit and vote to itself property which in no way belongs to it," reads a paragraph in a statement issued after the meeting.

The Rev. Thomas Harper's supporters got back of him and issued a statement, a paragraph of which says:

"We implore our pastor not to resign his great task of leadership in this church, but rather to lead us through this crisis. We admire his faith and heroism, his brilliant achievements and his absolute and unselfish devotion to this church."

MRS. ROBERTA COX CALLED BY DEATH

KELLY DIES WITH SMILE UPON LIPS

his son's death came.

In Good Spirits

Kelly awoke in good spirits at dawn, after six hours sound sleep. He ordered a breakfast of bacon and eggs and sliced peaches with three cups of coffee.

Last night he occasionally laughed and joked with death house guards, then, tiring of conversaion, requested a phonograph and records.

Lawrence Weeks, convicted of accompanying Kelly on two nights, is serving a life term for another killing and Michael Papadaches, 17, another accomplice, is in jail for his part of the crimes.

Young Refuses Stay

Last minute efforts to save Kelly were futile. After interviewing the mother and listening to arguments of Milton T. Uren, the slayer's attorney, Governor Young declined to grant a stay or commute the sentence.

The governor, however, prevented a double execution today by granting a 90-day stay to Lonnie Johnson, Merced county Negro, who was to hang for wife murder. Johnson, near death from anemia, was too weak to leave his hospital cot.

OIL WORKER GETS TERM IN PRISON

A. W. Cheney, Bakersfield oil worker may celebrate his 25th birthday in San Quentin. Superior Judge Homer G. Ames sentenced him to a term of one to 14 years there for forging an endorsement on a check, when Cheney appeared on a probation hearing today.

Cheney will be 25 next Monday and probably will reach San Quentin in time for the event. He had pleaded guilty to the charge and had requested leniency, but when Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman pointed out that he had violated probation granted on a similar offense by a Los Angeles court, Cheney's chances for freedom didn't amount to much.

He told Judge Ames today that he had committed the crime at the suggestion of a friend, that he was out of a job and needed the money to support his wife. Then he admitted that such an explanation did not excuse the act and the court pronounced judgment.

EDITOR HITS AT AL SMITH AND TAMMANY HALL

audience, spellbound at times by the eloquence of the speakers were left to judge in their own minds who had won the debate.

Burke started his speech by declaring that it would be insanity to elect Al Smith president and thereby undo the things for which the W. C. T. U. had been striving for the past 50 years, and he declared such would be the case, if Al Smith was elected.

"I find no fault with Al Smith's personality. I know him well. He is a fine representative of Tammany Hall and if we were looking at the question from New York's point of view, there would be nothing much against Smith. On social affairs, child labor, the minimum wage, I would want Smith to represent me. He takes the side of the poor because he was born among the poor. He also was born among the saloons and bawdy houses of Tammany Hall, and therefore he stands for Tammany Hall," Burke declared.

Burke declared that Smith was a student of state and city governments but that he knew nothing of foreign affairs and that as far as he knew, with one exception, he had never made a statement regarding foreign affairs. "It would be injurious to the welfare of the nation to elect such a man," he said.

Unknown Quantity

"America is taking its place in world affairs now more than ever before and on such questions, Al Smith is an unknown quantity and it would be insanity to elect him, or at least ridiculous," he said.

Burke then referred to the personal habits of Al Smith, as pertaining to liquor. "When we have carried on a campaign for 100 years, the results of which we have embodied into the constitution of the United States, it would show poor judgment to elect such a man as Al Smith as its head. We have no right to enter the domain of any man's personal habits, but it is not a question if Al Smith has a right to drink, but whether we want a president who sets that example. It has been reported, however, that he takes from four to eight cocktails a day.

"What a fine example it would be to have this man at the head of our government when we are trying to teach our boys the bad effects of alcohol on the system. The boy would say: 'Why Dad, look at the president, he has been drinking ever since he was a young boy.' I tell you, friends, it would seriously cripple the work we have done these last 50 years," Burke said.

Jumping into the "crimes" of Tammany Hall, Burke gave several minutes of his time to discussing the history of this famous political organisation, showing as he went along Al Smith's connection with it and quoting figures and facts dug up from congressional records.

"Tammany Hall was organized for public plunder in 1790," Burke said. "It was supposed to have been founded for the 'relief to indigent and distressed persons.' I wish I had time to go into that phase of it, but I haven't. Just the same, the illustrious founder, was removed from office of superintendent of the City Alms House, because he was found stealing money, and in 1806, Benjamin Romaine, one of the leaders, was removed from office of city controller, because he acquired land from the city without paying for it."

Tammany Tactics

Showing some of the tactics sued by Tammany Hall leaders, Burke told the following story: "Congressman 'Tim' Campbell had to make a speech in his Irish Tammany district. His opponent was an Italian named Rinaldo. This is Campbell's speech as it was reported:

A WORD OF COMFORT

You need method and order in your spiritual life just as you do in every other worth-while venture.

To often the effort of one hour is undone or vitiated by the hour which succeeds it. You say your prayers for a right endeavor and the next moment you go off on a tangent of arrogant wilfulness.

Do not frivol away your precious life because of indefinite purposes and half-hearted desires.

Determine to "play fair" with your trust in God and hold to that intention at every cost. As orderliness emerges out of chaos and you will know that you are drawing close to Him.

WILL EXPLAIN SCHOOL BONDS FOR NEWPORT

Details of the Santa Ana high school district building program, particularly as it relates to the harbor district, and the need of a bond issue to finance the project will be explained by Dr. W. S. Ford and Dr. O. S. Hull, educational experts of the University of Southern California, at a citizens' meeting to be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Newport Beach grammar school building.

Arrangements for the meeting have been made with the Newport Beach Parent-Teacher Association. Members of the Santa Ana board of education and City Superintendent J. A. Cranston will be on hand to answer questions relating to the undertaking.

The educational experts have made a thorough study of the housing situation in the district, and their report and recommendations, previously examined by a citizens' advisory committee, were adopted by the board of education at tis regular meeting last Tuesday night.

Listed among improvements to receive immediate attention, if the citizens voice their approval of the project, is the construction of a modern four-year junior high school at Costa Mesa at an estimated cost of $200,000. This school in the harbor district, to be built on the unit plan with sufficient grounds for future expansion, will form the nucleus for a regular senior high school, it was explained by the school executives.

WAR SHELLS STILL CLAIMING VICTIMS

PARIS, May 11—Nearly 10 years after the conclusion of the armistice, old shells and grenades of the Great war still are claiming a toll of lives and injuries.

Posthumous explosions of these war relics, found in former battlefields, cause casualties of some sort practically every week. Eight people recently were killed and seven were gravely wounded within three days in various parts of France when they tried to take home these deadly souvenirs of the war.

A catastrophe which might have cost many lives was averted near Douai by the timely discovery of an old German mine loaded with 200 kilograms of powder in front of the Libe[illegible]rt station. The explosive had been buried two meters deep so as to blow up the station, tracks and neighboring buildings, by electrical connections. Had a worker's pick struck the shell, as it almost did, war plans would have been realized a decade too late.

Although many of the victims are persons desirous of having sinister reminders of the world conflict, a great number are junkdealers who are trying to utilize valuable metal to be found in old war material. Still others are children who strike the explosives just to see if they will go off.

London Public To See Planes Land

LONDON, May 11.—With a view to creating more "air-mindedness" among the general public, the Imperial airways has directed that the solid, corrugated iron fences surrounding Croydon aidrome shall be torn down and replaced by open picket fences.

The airdrome lies along heavily traveled motor roads but in the past motorists have not been able to see the airplanes on account of the fences surrounding the field.

It is believed that greater familiarity on the part of the public in seeing the machines on the ground, and taking off, and landing will inspire confidence, and a desire to fly, in the minds of thousands of persons who have never given a serious thought to the possibility of their using the airways in their trips to the continent.

CORRUPTION, TAMMANY HALL SCORED BY EDITOR IN DEBATE

"There are two bills before the country. The Mills bill and the McKinley bill. The Mills bill is for free trade with everything free; the McKinley bill is for protection with nothing free. Do you want everything free or do you want to pay for everything?

"Having thus disposed of the national issue, I will now devote myself to the local issue which is this Dago Rinaldo. He is from Italy, I am from Ireland. Are you in favor of Italy or Ireland?

"Having thus disposed of the local issue and thanking you for your attention, I will now retire."

Bringing the history of Tammany Hall down to a later period, Burke told how Charles Francis Murphy, "probably the most corrupt of all its leaders" gained control. "It was after Lewis Nixon had resigned as chairman of the finance committee and leader of Tammany Hall, with the statement that he could not retain the leadership and at the same time retain his self respect."

Made a Million

"Murphy was a saloon keeper and at one time was the proprietor of four. The year of Tammany's defeat, after the scandal of Van Wyck's administration, Charles F. Murphy organized the New York Contracting and Trucking company and that company, by leasing the docks from the City of New York, after Murphy became leader of Tammany Hall made a handsome profit. He then obtained the office of dock commissioner and made $1,000,000," Burke said.

Burke scored his heaviest points while discussing the part played by Al Smith, in the impeachment of Governor William Sulzer. This information, brought out for the first time against Smith in a Santa Ana address was probably the most vivid picture of corruption painted during the evening's debate.

"In 1912 William Sulzer, congressman from New York by the grave of Tammany was nominated and elected governor of New York. The record of William Sulzer and his political assassination is one of the saddest tragedies in the history of our political life," Burke declared.

"Sulzer had a fair record up to the time he was elected governor. He was an able man. He had in him the instinct of a man and a statesman. He undoubtedly had hopes of higher political preferment and he knew that the only way that he could get it was by giving New York state a real service.

"Advice Money"

"He had no sooner taken the governor's chair when Murphy endeavored to get absolute control of him by lending him money. Sulzer was poor and he replied to Murphy at that time that he was paying off his debts gradually. Murphy wanted a governor he could run; he had to have him in his business. He wanted the appointments. He demanded finally, the appointment of a man by the name of James E. Gaffney to be highway commissioner. This man Gaffney was a man who, on the undisputed testimony before the supreme court at Nyack, was shown to have received $30,000 in money from one of the aqueduct contractors, normally for "advice." This is the man Murphy demanded should be put in a position where he could superintend and control the spending of $65,000,000 of money of the state in road contracts.

"At this same time, Al Smith was speaker of the house of representatives.

"For weeks Murphy kept demanding that Gaffney should be appointed and he declared to Sulzer that it would be 'Gaffney or war! He declared that he would make Sulzer's administration a laughing stock of the entire state.

"It was about that time that Senator Stilwell was being tried at Albany for accepting a bribe and Murphy declared 'We'll stand by him, of course, Stilwell will be acquitted. How do you expect a senator to live on $1500 a year. This is only chicken feed.'

"Sulzer then appointed John A. Hennessy to investigate corruption in all the departments of the state departments, Murphy became terrified. Hennessy's estimate was that the state got 30 cents of value for each dollar spent on its roads and dellared that 'the electors of New York State will learn that the political organization, captained by Charles F. Murphy is organized to loot the treasury, and regards every honest man as its enemy.'

Governor Refused

"At that time Sulzer attempted to pass a direct primary bill. This Hughes had failed to get the legislature to do. When the legislature failed to do this Sulzer called them back in extraordinary session, and Bill Barnes, the booze boss of the Republicans at Albany joined in with Murphy and his Tammany high binders against the governor and the primary law. The session refused to do anything that the governor called upon it to do and instead it did exactly as it was told to do by Murphy.

"The legislature actually refused to pass the regular appropriation bills that were needed to cover the state's running expenses. This was done because of the investigation of crookedness going on in the state.

"It refused to appropriate money for state prisons because Murphy insisted one of his friends be appointed as superintendent of prisons and they couldn't get the money to send prisoners to Sing Sing. The state government was completely paralyzed and the man who was the chief henchman and lieutenant of Murphy in the legislature at Albany was the speaker of the house, Alfred E. Smith, who is now being heralded by some as a reformer in politics.

"But the forces of darkness then gathered together and the orders came from Murphy's summer home that the assembly must impeach William Sulzer. The absent members of the assembly had to be brought to Albany from their retreats in the Catskills and from their camps in the Adirondacks and from their contracting business in New York City, to record their votes as Murphy wished them recorded. Telegrams were sent through the state to bring absent legislators to Albany and Tammany men from New York were sent down post haste.

Meets at Night

"The assembly met in night session on August 12, 1913, and with all that effort they could round up only 66 votes opposed to Sulzer—10 less than the required majority. And the next day, Murphy coming from his summer home, never left the telephone and was in constant communication with Al Smith, his one lieutenant, and Robert F. Wagner of the state senate.

"The assembly continued in session all through the night of the 13th. The members had been in continuous session under call of the house, to keep them there, for more than 24 hours. Finally enough members were mustered at Albany to pass the impeachment resolution and after the final roll call on the impeachment, members fell back in their chairs and slept while the speaker, Alfred E. Smith, pounded his gavel in an effort to wake them up. 'A number of the members, I take it, are asleep in their chairs,' Smith shouted. 'Members will please answer when their names are called,' and he literally gaveled this impeachment through the house," Burke said.

"The trial took place and this group of the most corrupt crooks who were ousting Governor Sulzer, could only bring out in the trial against the governor that he had received various amounts of money to carry on his campaign, some of which he had not published in his expense account. That was all—every particle—and under the orders of these crooks they were able to deny the governor of the state the right to be independent and decent. And I want you to remember that Al Smith, the man they would make president, was a party to all this. A man like that is not fit to be at the head of our government," Burke said.

Touching on prohibition, Mr. Burke said: "I do not care to discuss prohibition. Prohibition is a settled fact.

Signs Bill

"When Smith became governor of New York he aided to repeal the law giving officers the power to enforce the national prohibition act. Both New York houses passed the nullification bill and it went to Smith for his signature. People swamped his offices with letters begging him to uphold the constitution of the United States, but he refused. He signed the bill.

"It is absurd to propose that we elect a man as president who has charged state troopers to even arrest federal prohibition officers in New York who attempted to carry out our national law.

"Suppose the word should go out that Al Smith had been elected president. What would be the result? Every bootlegger in the country would know that there was a man in office who is in sympathy with law violation. The real fundamental principles of this country is law enforcement and if I could make one appeal I would appeal for a stand for liberty but a stand for liberty by law, but to elect a preacher of Tammany Hall as president, that would be a crime," he concluded.

Head Speaks

Head opened his remarks by declaring that in his opinion, such a tirade against Smith by Burke was a little beside the question, due to the fact that he did not believe rumors should dominate before a platform of the party had been adopted. "Such an indictment against Smith at this time, I think, is unreasonable," he declared.

Head's chief points of his argument were relative to the prohibition question. He told his audience that personal habits of a candidate should make no difference but that if it was fair to say that Smith drinks liquor, he would like to call attention to the fact that "Mr. Harding was known to have imbibed quite freely. Calvin Coolidge is quite a drinker himself," Head said.

"Herbert Hoover is a drinking man and so is Charles G. Dawes and so is Frank Lowden. Aren't we stepping on rather dangerous ground when we discuss a man's personal habits?" he asked.

Answering Burke's statement that New York repealed the enforcement act, Head asked: "When was it illegal for a state to repeal an act? The mere fact that it was repealed is no reason why the speaker for the affirmative should go into a frenzy," he declared.

Head's argument was separated into three classes, economic, social and moral.

"It costs the government $150,000,000 to enforce prohibition and the loss of $4,000,000,000 in taxes which has to be made up some way and the last state is worse than the first," he declared.

Breeds Cowards

"Prohibition breeds more political cowards and causes more damage to social life than anything that has entered our lives. It is hard medicine for some of us to take, but in all fairness, lay aside all sentimentality tonight," he urged.

In 13 Eastern and Southern states last year, there were 158 persons killed by federal prohibition officers, the speaker declared, giving a list of the states and the casualties therein.

Following this up, he declared that the death rate per 10,000 persons in the United States from the drinking of strong drink had mounted higher since prohibition last year than in the last nine years. The death rate, he said was 3.6 in 1926, as compared with 1.6 in 1919, the year before prohibition went into effect.

The deaths in New York state for the year were 918 ending last April, as compared with 146 in 1920, the first year of prohibition. Since 1920, he reported, the number of persons killed by liquor has mounted steadily in that state, declaring that 180 were killed in 1921; 373 in 1922; 591 in 1923; 715 in 1924; 878 in 1925 and 918 in 1926.

"The violators of the prohibition laws are the rich of the country, not the poor," Head declared. "Much of the violations are committed by persons who should know better," he said.

Disrupts Politics

Purporting to show what preachers of the country think of the enforcement of the prohibition law, Head said that the Church Temperance society had sent out questionnaires to 5000 clergymen of the country asking their views and that 3000 of these had been returned showing a vote of three to one in favor of recommending "a return to real prohibition." "They gave as their reasons that prohibition hampered the medical profession, disrupted politics and made the underworld semi-respectable." he said.

"In California in 1927, there were 20,000 automobile accidents. State records show that 9951 of these accidents were caused by drunken drivers. In Los Angeles county there were 273 deaths and in San Francisco 152 deaths. In the United States there were 6950 deaths in 1926 and 6289 in 1925. Surely there were never that many before prohibition," Head said.

Head declared that enforcement of the prohibition laws was a direct violation of the constitution itself, surely as much as the liquor violations. "Uniformed or men not in uniform break into the doors of your very homes without even the color of authority and it's done in Los Angeles every day of the year. You don't want to think of that and yet it is a thrust at the very foundation of the civilization of this country," Head said.

Head pointed out that there were 29,114 prosecutions on liquor violations in 1921; 32,984 in 1922; 49,000 in 1923; 54,000 in 1924; 44,000 in 1926 and 40,000 in 1927. You will notice that the amount of prosecutions fell off after the fourth year. The federal officers got lazy and prohibition lost its power. "On top of those figures it is estimated that there are 400,000 violators prosecuted each year under our various state laws," he said.

"It is estimated that the violators who go unprosecuted each year are approximately 55,000,000, four times as many persons as voted for president in the last campaign," Head declared.

Head admitted that there were more crimes committed before prohibition but "never has crime been brought so close to our doorsteps as at the present time." "It required a bloody war to make slavery a sin but only an act of the legislature has made liquor a crime," he declared.

Head declared that prior to prohibition high school boys and girls did not drink liquor as they do today. He gave several incidents where bootleggers were plying their trade among school children. "Your high schools and grammar schools are being made the market place for the thing which you think has been prohibited. It was not the case when I was a student in schools in Chicago and later at Dartmouth," he declared.

Burke's Rebuttal

Burke, in a few moments of his reply, stated that prohibition was not the issue—that it was settled just as much as the slavery question was settled. It was only a matter of enforcement. He did, however, quote Dr. Fisher, professor of economics at Yale, who has written a book on "Prohibition at its Worst," who, on the cost of prohibition declared it had saved the nation six billions of dollars a year, and that it would be profitable, even if it cost one billion a year to enforce it. He also refuted the declarations on deaths by quoting Dr. Havens Emmerson, professor of Public Health Administration of Columbia university, as follows: "All that I have to offer is the evidence that with every reduction in the use of alcohol there is an improvement in the health of the people, practically at all ages, and contributing also to a reduction in the number of deaths of almost all kinds."

Following the debate, Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, state president of the W. C. T. U., who acted as chairman for the evening, made an eloquent appeal to the audience to "stand by the guns of the drys" in the coming election.

She declared that 20,000,000 women would be ready to cast their votes for the candidate whose party inserted a dry plank in its platform. "If the Republicans place a dry plank in its platform then the women of this country will support the Republican nominee, but if they fail, and the Democrats at Houston put in a dry plank, the women vote of this country will elect a Democrat as the next president." she declared, adding, "so long as they do not nominate Al Smith."

Mrs. Wheeler told of the need for sending dry literature throughout the country. She declared that millions of homes were being circularised with wet propaganda and asked that a donation be made for the purchasing of dry literature to be sent to the homes throughout Orange county.

Mellon Stumbling Block

Although she did not call his name, Mrs. Wheeler referred to Secretary Mellon as being a stumbling block in the path of the drys of the country and stated that should a wet be elected president, higher officers throughout the nation would be filled with wets.

"This is a crucial time. Our supreme court judges are appointed for life, many of them are now aged gentlemen. Several may die or retire during the next administration. The supreme court has constantly interpreted the prohibition law in favor of the constitution and the people. The wets are determined if possible, that there shall be judges on the supreme bench that will interpret the law against the constitution and the people and in favor of the bootlegger and the scofflaw," she declared.

"The election of a wet as president would largely break the prohibition morale of the nation and the wets know it," she said.

KIWANIANS OF DISTRICT HOLD MEETING HERE

Kiwanis International is going through a critical period and in the near future must adjust itself to a new foundation, Heber Winder, attorney at Riverside, former district governor and international trustee, told Kiwanians present at the banquet of division four of this Kiwanis district held at St. Ann's inn last night as the concluding feature of a conference opening at the inn at 4 p. m. Representatives were present from every club in this division, most of the delegates being accompanied by their wives.

Winder recounted organization and early history of Kiwanis, pointing out that its inception was for selfish purposes—a money making scheme by the founder, who diverted a group of men he had organized for a benevolent association into the path of the service club, the scheme emulating that of another club created earlier.

"The organization has reached that point where it has had its initial growth and there must be a shake down to a solid foundation and readjustment of expenses," Winder said, in stressing the point that determination must be made as to whether Kiwanis has justified itself.

Membership Lost

The former district governor commented on the fact that membership is being lost and charters are being surrendered. He expressed the belief that too many unnecessary meetings were being held and that added expenses were having their influence in depleting this membership. He said he would not advise doing away with weekly meetings of the club, but he was of the opinion that others that require time and attention of members could be eliminated without injuring the organization.

Pointing out that the two principal objectives of Kiwanis International is underprivileged children and good citizenship, the speaker suggested that it might be advisable for Kiwanis to get a correct definition of "underprivileged children." He thought the activity should be under the name of "undernourished children."

He illustrated his point by reciting an activity of the Riverside club in providing playgrounds for the negro colony school children in that community, while playground equipment was entirely absent on the school grounds for the white children. He added, that, in this instance, he had come to the conclusion that the white children were the "underprivileged children."

Giving emphasis to the declaration that the opportunity for each club is in its own community, Winder said that local clubs should not attempt to solve problems outside their own communities.

The former district governor urged a survey by each club of conditions in its own territory before plunging into an activity.

The speaker was introduced by Frank Wright, of Whittier, lieutenant-governor of this district, following introduction of the lieutenant governor by President Dr. MacVicker Smith, who presided.

Solos by Beulah May, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Williams, and legerdermain by the Rev. F. T. Porter, provided special entertainment for the evening session. Community singing was lead by Leon Ecklen.

At the afternoon conference, Prof. Louis E. Plummer, principal of the Fullerton high school, led a discussion on "Public Affairs." His paper on the subject was considered of such value that it will be forwarded to the Kiwanis magazine for publication.

"Farmers and City Men" was the subject for a general discussion and speakers expressed the opinion that each club should have at least three programs during the year in which agricultural interests should be featured.

The Rev. R. H. Silverthorn, of the Santa Ana club, heads a division committee that is developing special plans for getting voters to the polls at the August primary and the general election in November, and it is anticipated the program initiated by the division will be followed by other divisions in the state.

A check revealed that the clubs of this district would send their quota of 25 to the International convention at Seattle June 17. The clubs in the division are located at Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, La Habra, Buena Park and Whittier.

MARGHERITA MARSDEN GIVEN FINE RECEPTIONS WHEN SHE SINGS WITH SANTA ANA BAND

By RUTH ANDREWS
Secretary S. A. Music Week Committee

Eagerly responsive to announcement of Santa Ana Municipal Band's special Music Week program, presented at the High School auditorium last night, under D. C. Cianfoni's direction, appreciative music-lovers from all sections of Orange county gathered to enjoy an event of outstanding success and spectacular brilliance.

Introduced by Chairman Harry Hansen as leader for community singing, Leon Eckles, director of the Santa Ana Cantando club, quickly warmed the audience with his infectious, jolly manner.

Admirably chosen, the Overture, "Raymond" (Thomas) was replete with sudden changes, fiery abrupt opening followed by subdued, plaintive theme, with excellent clarinet work. Carefully shaded crescendo ended in frenzied fortissimo, well-maintained, changing to delightful allegretto, an undertone of unrest again climaxed in passionate fury.

Remarkable brilliance characterized Marenco's ballet, "Singing Day," its vividly varied emotional transitions lit with fire and lightning. Wistful tenderness of exquisite clarinet work preceded clear-cut staccato with deeper undertone, the French horn mellow and golden against clarinet background. Stimulating the imagination tremendously, this number's violent unrestraint and emotional appeal well merited the resultant thunder of applause.

Dramatically vibrant, Margherita Marsden's lovely voice fulfilled every expectation, her charming, vital personality no less pleasing. The Donizetti Cavatina—"O Mio Fernando," glowed with powerful intensity; sweetly spring-like, "I've Been Roaming," was a gratifying encore, and following ovations of applause from an audience loath to relinquish her, Mrs. Marsden generously offered a typical Italian folk-song, in honor of the director, its sheer beauty a perpetual ripple of gaiety.

Always popular, Moszkowski's three Spanish dances were scintillant and typical, the allegro briosa, abrupt and fiery; allegro comodo, melancholy, voluptuous, sultry with rhythmic languor; con spirito, all its name implies, a marvel of animation and joy of living.

Marked excellence characterized presentation of the first movement of Saint-Saens' "Concerto in G Minor" by Everard Stovall, pupil of Earl Fraser, accompanied on the second piano by Eva Ramsey. Poise, graceful facility, richness of tonal values, and faultless technic of the young pianist were a joy to behold, with delicate passage-work of the adagio theme exquisitely shaded, the notes crystalline, ethereal.

The sparkling Intermezzo, "California Whispering Pines" (Cianfoni) was brilliant with lilting bird-notes, vigorous, happy, full of vital magnetism characteristic of our talented director's own personality. Wistful yearning of the popular "Ramona" made an appealing encore.

Katherine and Ellen Collins, twins of radio fame, were adorably dainty and Spring-like in a vocal duet "When Twilight Weaves" (Beethoven), with violin, cello and piano obligato. Hearty applause brought them back for a gay encore "Come to the Fair," bubbling with their own childish joy and mischief.

Bringing one of Music Week's most successful programs to especially powerful conclusion, the band offered Friedmann's vivid "Slavonic Rhapsody," modern, tumultuous, opening with ominous undertone, crescendoing to frenzied rhapsodic fury, marvelously sustained. Familiar strains of "Star Spangled Banner" accompanied by impressive lowering of the flag, were followed by a riot of applause, unqualified proof of esteem felt everywhere for our splendid Municipal band and its popular director, who has worked so tirelessly for the success and performance of this present Music week festival.

NOTED SURGEON RETURNS SIGHT OF BLIND VETS

By HENRY MAXENCE
(By United Press)
Special Correspondent

BORDEAUX, May 11.—Explaining in an exclusive interview with the United Press his method of curing "war blindness," Dr. G. Bonnefon, who has had extraordinary success in many cases officially declared incurable, said that there are many hundreds of ex-soldiers who believe themselves doomed to eternal darkness who could see again if properly treated.

Dr. Bonnefon has been elected unanimously honorary member of the Union of Blind of France and of the National Federation of War Wounded. The latter organization presented to him a gold plaque with the inscription: "To Dr. G. Bonnefon who gave back sight and the joy of life to many of our blind comrades."

"A very small proportion only of war blinded are susceptible of being cured," Dr. Bonnefon told the correspondent. "I had M. Scapini, chairman of the Association of War Blinded, draw up a list of all the members who might benefit by an operation. Eighteen hundred of these passed through my office. I decided to operate on 44 only. Twenty-nine recovered almost normal vision. The other 15 operations failed."

Cure Permanent

"Is the cure lasting?" asked the correspondent.

"Yes," he replied, "when the patient is serious and follows a course of treatments I prescribe for him after the operation. My first cure was effected on Jean Gazaille, of Lachenau, in the department of the Dordogne. He recovered his sight in 1922 and his visual acuity has not decreased in six years. The last patient under my care was Auguste Cormier, of Ahuille, in the department of Mayenne. He was demobilized with 90 per cent invalidity. He had only one-fourth of normal vision. When a person has only one-twentieth of normal vision he is considered for all practical purposes blind.

"As his case was getting worse all the time I advised him to go again before the medical board of the army. I wanted to be sure of my ground and operate only when the official board declared that the case was incurable. Cormier was definitely released from military service as totally blind and incurable. He returned to my clinic in January last. Twenty days later he left the clinic with four-tenths normal vision. He walks around without aid."

Says Grafting Useless

Asked about the details of his method of operation, Dr. Bonnefon said:

"I believe the method of grafting for the cure of blindness is out of date and useless. I know of 300 war blinded who are undergoing such operations at the present moment without the slightest hope of ever seeing again. None of them has shown the smallest amelioration.

"My entire method is based on this: If a clinical examination shows that there exists a minimum of luminous perception and that between the retina (or part of the retina) and the transparent cornea there is any kind of obstacle an operation might effect a cure. The actual surgical action consists in the re-establishment of the permeability of the transparent substances conducting light and this necessitates immense patience.

"Perhaps my greatest success has been that I have demonstrated that there exist ocular lesions which the ordinary surgeon cannot treat if he remains a slave to old methods. I regard as curable blindness in all cases of exceptional lesions which respond to exceptional methods of treatment. I have gone into the details of my operations at great length in my reports to the Academy of Medicine of Paris."

Boise To Expend $20,000 On Airport

BOISE, Idaho, May 11.—Improvements costing more than $20,000 will be made in the Boise airport during the year.

City councilmen recently voted a one mill tax levy which will raise funds for the improvement of the airport.

Eventually the runway will be extended to have a length of 4800 feet, but the work to be done first calls for extension of the length to 2700 feet at an approximate cost of $15,000.

The city council received a suggestion that illumination of the airport would be desirable for night flying over the Varney air mail route.

HOW ABOUT GARLIC?

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 11.—If you lived in this city, had a spacious office in the heart of town and your stenographer came late to work, it wouldn't take much reasoning to know that she ate onions for breakfast. For the street car conductors have been ordered by the Belgian Trolley company to bar people who have been eating onions.

REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENTS IN FAR EAST HALT

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, May 11.—Revolution faces a bear market in the Far East.

Red is the scarcest color extant and even a mild pink can be detected only after hard search.

Virtually every Far East country is embarked on a conservative track. Extreme reactionary policies are the rule at some points. Nowhere is there marked indication of even liberalism, and radicalism lives—if at all—only in hidden subterranean channels.

Such is the summary agreed upon by several practiced observers who have visited all important localities of the Far East within the past few months.

They do not say that this is a permanent condition, but they are unanimous in the view that it is the prevailing situation. Moreover, the cycle seems still moving toward the right—that is, even greater conservatism. When it will turn leftward canot be forecast.

Scarlet Changes Felt

Developments in Soviet Russia are considered significant in this connection, although the cycle by no means rests upon the recent strengthening of the Stalin regime there and virtual erasure of the Trotsky-Zinovieff opposition. It is, however, felt that the Moscow events tend to let the natural Right swing in the Far East take its course unhampered.

China is as usual the outstanding barometer of Far East tendercies, due in part to the fact that its plastic condition allows immediate reflection of the foreign policies of home governments.

Up to the time of the famous Nanking incident, which nearly brought foreign intervention into actuality in China, the success of the northward-sweeping Cantonese had fanned revolutionary ardor high in China.

Although Trotsky and others of the opposition in Moscow felt that the Soviet policy in China was a weak affair, this apparent success had served to keep Soviet authorities fairly well together on China policy.

Chinese Frightened

The fatal Wuhan-Nanking political split showed the fundamental weaknesses of the Nationalist machine as built up under Borodin's eye but with a haste Borodin did not approve; the Nanking incident frightened the Chinese into belief that intervention indeed was near; and all chance of a genuine revolution for some time to come vanished soon after.

Meanwhile the Soviet contact with Japan seems to be strengthening, on a purely business basis and with the respective irreconcileable home policies tactfully left well in the background.

Radicals Losing

Korea, pathetic but prosperous, seems to most visitors hopelessly out of the revolutionary running. Korean intelligentsia who can state an excellent case for their lost cause, are not hard to find, but nobody does anything and Japan daily finishes off the process of assimilation.

Formosa, likewise under Japan, also is closed to any sort of radical disturbers or disturbances and is busy at work on economic development. So are Borneo, Java, Sumatra and the Malay States. Siam, a rapidly developing country under an enlightened absolute monarchy, is rapidly duplicating Japan's modernization story on a smaller scale.

Communistic disturbances in Java during recent months created nothing but a thorough clamping down of the lip, from all reports.

With a new and thoroughly experienced governor-general in the saddle, the Philippines are meekly listening to plans for economic development, and independence talk has for once taken a seat well back. Probably it will not stay there; but the present line is quiet and conservative along the current prevailing Far East pattern.

CONSTIPATION CAUSES TROUBLE
But there's a way to safe relief
It's so easy to become constipated these days—what with soft food, lack of exercise, modern rush and hurry. So easy, indeed, that many of the worst sufferers don't even realize what's the trouble with them.
They go through life—half-way sick, half-way tired. From time to time, they resort to drugs and pills. But these afford no more than temporary relief. Often enough, they only increase the trouble.
Headaches, sleeplessness, backaches, sallow cheeks, [illegible] hair—these are all symptoms of this widespread affliction. Sooner or later it leads to serious disease. Stop dangerous constipation! Stop habit-forming drugs! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN points the way to natural relief. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.
Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran—100% effective. A health cereal to serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Sprinkle into soups. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek

CREDIT MEN WILL HEAR TALK MONDAY

G. Werner Leo, one of the Founders of the Orange County Credit association, the parent of what is now the Santa Ana Business Men's association of Santa Ana, will address the membership at a meeting Monday, at St Ann's Inn, at noon, it was announced today by Earl Ruddy, secretary and manager.

For the past five years Leo has been credit manager for the Ott Hardware company of Santa Barbara, and has been eminently successful in his work, according to Ruddy.

"Credit as a Business Builder" will be the subject of Leo's address. The manager pointed out that the speaker had had experience on both sides of the credit business—bureau and private—and said his discourse should be of interest to men who grant credit as well as those who do not.

Ruddy emphasizes the point that business men will be welcome to the meeting regardless of membership in the association, and said that luncheon reservations would not be necessary.

MAY FETE WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAY

Several of the special numbers which are to be presented tomorrow afternoon at the May fete to be held by High School Girl Reserves at the high school will include a pantomime dance by Miss Florence Brownridge and Miss Dorothy Diehl, a xylophone solo by Miss Dorothy Ramsey, a solo dance by Miss Peggy Bronson, and the May pole dance.

The program will start at 3 o'clock with the crowning of the May queen, Miss Ruth Breckenridge. Accompanying Miss Breckenridge and her maids of honor will be the jester, Gretchen Frisbee, the crown-bearer, Janet McFadden, the flower girl, Barbara Ann Montgomery, and the herald, Georgia Croft.

Several numbers in natural dancing will be given by students of Mrs. William Foote's natural dancing classes. Mrs. Foote is a teacher at the Santa Ana high school.

The fete itself will begin at 2:30 o'clock in order to allow time for the patronizing of the various booths managed by Girl Reserve clubs from the churches.

Rancher And Dry Agent Killed In Raid Gun Battle

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., May 11.—James Capen, federal prohibition officer, and Michael Bishopick, a rancher, died in a hospital here today from wounds sustained in a gun fight on Bishopick's ranch, near Kemmerer, last night.

The shooting followed the confiscation of a still on Bishopick's ranch by Capen and James Epperson, state dry officer.

Court Notes

Naming Glen Clark as co-respondent, Laurence L. Williams today had started divorce action against Mildred Williams. While in Fresno, he asserted, he was asked to take his wife away because she was luring husbands from their homes. The complaint stated that the couple were married in 1922 and separated last January. The case was transferred here from Los Angeles county.

Habitual intemperance and cruelty were charged to George Washington Purkey in a divorce action filed today by Lula E. Purkey. They were married in 1918 and separated May 3, according to the complaint.

Mabel Donaldson started action to secure a divorce from Charles S. Donaldson today, charging him with cruelty. They were married in 1908 and separated last March, the complaint stated.

"HOME COMING" AT LIBRARY NEXT WEEK

The week of May 14-19 is to be observed at the Library as "Homecoming Week." A number of books have found to have mysteriously strayed from their accustomed places on the shelves, and in order to bring them home, the following offer is being made:

Bring any overdue books you may find under the davenport, behind the piano, under your pillow, in the bookcase, or anywhere, and put them in the receptacle which is to be placed outside the library building during that week. No questions will be asked, and no fines charged, provided that the books have been missing for some time.

Let's all co-operate in getting back this public property. Are you sure you have none of these books? Better search the living room or the dog's kennel to be sure.

LT. GOVERNOR FITTS MAY NOT LOSE LEG

SAWTELLE, Calif., May 11—The contemplated amputation of the right leg of Lt. Gov. Buron Fitts has been postponed indefinitely and may never take place, it was announced at the Sawtelle Veterans' hospital today.

Physicians, who previously announced the amputation for today, said it was decided instead to treat the leg with the hope of saving it.

The state official has undergone 17 operations in an effort to remedy the injury sustained when he was struck by a shell during the World war.

ALARM SPREAD BY TIDAL WAVE RUMOR

SANTA PAULA, Calif., May 11.—The Santa Clara river valley, vividly recalling the St. Francis dam break, which took 300 lives two months ago, was alarmed late yesterday by the rumor that a tidal wave was sweeping in from the Pacific ocean.

Newspaper, police and sheriff offices were swamped with calls regarding the reported wave and many valley residents were said to have rushed to the hills for safety.

The false rumor was said to have been broadcast from a radio station, but this could not be confirmed.

Don't Make a Toy Out of Baby
~Babies Have Nerves~
By RUTH BRITTAIN

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the overstimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 25 million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on each package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.—Adv.

SCOTTY NOT CALLED IN DIVORCE ACTION

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—With the usual blare of publicity, Death Valley Scotty, the desert mystery man, arrived in Los Angeles early this week. He was, he confessed, to be the central figure in the divorce action of Mrs. Eva Mudge Jorgensen against Hans Jorgensen.

Late yesterday, without taking Scotty into confidence, the Jorgensens settled their difficulties and withdrew their various complaints and cross complaints.

Under the terms of an out-of-court agreement, all property differences were adjusted and Mrs. Jorgensen, once famous on the stage, will receive custody of her two daughters. Jorgensen later will file an amended complaint, which will not be contested, it was said.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS AFFIRM THEIR DECISION TO IMPOUND FLOOD WATERS IN BIG DAM

Laying down the principles for which they will stand in the development of water conservation on the Santa Ana river, the Orange county board of supervisors and advisory committee on flood control today had reaffirmed their decision that this section's share of flood waters from the river be stored in Orange county.

W. S. Post, state engineer, is expected to report on July 1 the results of tri-counties surveys on the Santa Ana river basin made by the state. The two Orange county bodies which met yesterday took a firm stand in setting forth the principles they will favor as the basis of the report.

Paul Bailey, water conservation engineer of Orange county, informed the group that the state's report was scheduled for filing in July and asked that a policy be determined on which he can stand as representative from this section in conferences with the other counties on the state report.

Water was again recognized as the essence of prosperity in this section in the discussion which followed, culminating in the passing of a resolution in which this county's position was set forth.

Bailey pointed out that two possible plans might be adopted in the state investigation, one providing for a dam here and one for a dam to the north. None of the proposals for a structure outside this county would place a dam further south than Riverside, he said.

Meager Data

Bailey explained that there is only meager data from which to determine how much water would percolate to ranchers here in case a barrier was placed to the north. If an equal division of water were attempted, he said, it would be impossible to make a computation as close as 50 per cent correct as to what would happen to Orange county's water supply as a result of placing a dam in Riverside or San Bernardino counties.

What Orange county will demand is its rightful share of the flood waters which heretofore have been escaping to the ocean, according to the opinions expressed yesterday.

The resolution passed yesterday, which will be forwarded to the boards of supervisors in Riverside and San Bernardino counties, follows:

Resolution

Whereas, the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange in co-operation with the State of California have undertaken to work out to their mutual benefit, for the Santa Ana river and its tributaries, a plan of reservoir construction and operation and of water spreading that will control floods and affect the complete conservation of water now wasted into the ocean during the flood season, and

Whereas, the supervisors of Orange county and their Citizen's Advisory Committee believe that it is for the best interests of all three counties that such a plan be devised and are desirous of assisting the work to a successful conclusion, and

Whereas, the engineering investigations preparatory to working out such a plan have been under way for the past three years by the state engineer in consultation with an advisory committee of three engineers, one appointed by each of the boards of supervisors of the three counties, and

Whereas, the collection of data and information necessary for working out such a plan has proceeded to the point where preliminary consideration is being given to the formulation of this plan, and

Whereas, this plan will seriously interfere with the rights to flow in the Santa Ana river now vested in the citizens of Orange county if it does not conform to vertain principles and

Whereas, the burden of initiating legal action to preserve these rights, should they be encroached upon by this plan, and likewise the burden of initiating legal action to secure their allotment of water conserved by this plan, should it be interrupted in its course before reaching Orange county, will devolve upon the citizens of Orange county, and

Whereas, the principles that will protect the rights now vested in the citizens of Orange county and that will insure the receipt of their allotment of waste water conserved under this plan, will also permit the control of floods suitably to the needs of each county and affect the complete conservation of all waste water of the Santa Ana river at the least cost, and

Whereas, some of the proposals for inclusions in the plan placed before the advisory committee to the state engineer do not conform to principles that will protect the rights now vested in the citizens of Orange county,

Now, therefore, in order to assist the state engineer in the speedy formulation of a satisfactory plan,, be it resolved by the board of supervisors of Orange county and the citizens advisory committee in meeting assembled that the general principles upon which a plan may be devised that will be acceptable to Orange county are:

1. That the quantity of water now percolating from the channel of the Santa Ana river and its tributaries in any season under present conditions into the several subterranean basins along their courses, including the Orange county coastal plane, to which water the lands overlying the several subterranean basins are entitled by law to have continue to percolate into their respective basins, be not disturbed, and that the times and rates of percolation that now occur within each season under present conditions be disturbed only to the extent necessary to secure a seasonable control of flood flows.

2. That such flood waters now being wasted into the ocean that may be Orange county's share in the plan for the control of floods and complete conservation of the waters of the Santa Ana river, be reservoired downstream from the agricultural lands of the two upper counties at such point or points as may be selected by the board of supervisors and citizens advisory committee of Orange county.

3. That such flood waters now being wasted into the ocean that may be the share of the two upper counties respectively in the plan for the control of floods and complete conservation of the waters of the Santa Ana river, be reservoired at such locations as their respective representatives may select.

And, therefore, be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the state engineer and to the supervisors of San Bernardino and Riverside counties, and that the supervisors of San Bernardino and Riverside counties be called upon to express their views on the foregoing principles.

VALENCIA SHOW OFFERS $3000 TO EXHIBITORS

Nearly $3000 in cash prizes and more than a score of valuable silver cups will go to exhibitors at the eighth annual California Valencia Orange show, to be held at Anaheim from May 24 to June 3, it was announced today by George W. Reid, manager of the 1928 Valencia show. Premium booklets are just off the presses and were mailed out today from Anaheim to growers and packers throughout California. The 1928 premium list is the largest and most valuable offered at any previous Valencia orange show.

The highest awards are in Class 45-F, for feature displays without mechanical action, for which first, second, third and fourth prizes of $250, $150, $75 and $50 respectively are offered, and in Class 46-F, for feature displays using mechanical action which carry first, second, third and fourth prizes of $300, $200, $100 and $50 respectively. There will be ten feature displays. Los Angeles county captured the sweepstakes prize in this department last year.

The best 40 boxes of Valencia oranges exhibited will receive the grand sweepstakes prize of $100, with second and third prize winners drawing $75 and $25 respectively. Growers' sweepstakes winners, for the best 24 boxes of Valencias, will receive three prizes of $75, $40 and $15. More than 40 classes of exhibits carry either two or three prizes ranging from $15 to $135.

In addition to the list of orange awards, many prizes are offered for exhibits of lemons, grapefruit, avocados, assorted fruits and citrus by-products. First, second and third prizes also are offered for the best decorated booths, and cups and cash prizes are offered in the speed and fancy packing contests.

TALKS BEFORE LOCAL PASTOR S. A. LION CLUB

"Suffering Cats!"

Not an elegant topic for a discourse by a minister, yet the Rev. George Burlingame, acting pastor of the First Baptist church, treated the subject in an entertaining and enlightening way in an address yesterday at the Lions club.

Placing Lions in the cat family, the pastor based his discourse on "Diseases of the Cat" written by Hamilton Kirk, veterinary surgeon. The book pointed out that cats are subject to affliction by 102 diseases, and from the book the speaker drew the lesson of the progress of modern education and heart interest in dumb animals.

Specialization in modern education and the growth of culture in America was commented on, the divine stressing the growth of the public school system by pointing out that in 1890 approximately one-third of a million pupils were in the public schools, while now there are 4,000,000 in high schools, and 850,000 in colleges.

Southern California is becoming a second New England for education, he said, in enumerating the increasing number of universities and colleges being located in the southland.

"We no longer have to go to New England for our higher education," Dr. Burlingame said.

Asserting that he had traveled a great deal and had visited virtually every state in the union, Dr. Burlingame declared he had found no place with better cultural, moral spiritual and progressive ideals than Santa Ana.

Concluding his remarks on the more tender and sympathetic consideration of humans and brutes, as drawn from the book on "Suffering Cats," the speaker said there is no satisfying home comfort unless "we have that sense to help others so characteristic of the Supreme Being."

Trombone solos by D. C. Cianfoni and selections by the Tocatto string quartette of the Santa Ana high school offered the musical section of the program.

George Ash was program chairman.

Has Your Husband Got Indigestion?

Nothing creates domestic discord quicker than an attack of indigestion, and nothing gets rid of indigestion quicker than Bisurated Magnesia. No man can be sweet tempered, good natured or even fair minded when his stomach is constantly sick, sour, gassy, and upset with after-eating distress. If your husband has stomach trouble neither scold nor pity him, but help him by seeing that he has a supply of Bisurated Magnesia (either powder or tablets) constantly at hand. A teaspoonful of powder or two tablets taken in a little water after meals will instantly neutralize the acids in his stomach that are causing his trouble and he can enjoy his meals with no more fear of indigestion. Bisurated Magnesia is the special form of Magnesia used by thousands to neutralize stomach acidity and quickly overcome Indigestion—do not confuse with Milk, Carbonate, Block or Citrate of Magnesia. Insist on Bisurated. Its action is safe, prompt and sure and it can be obtained at small cost from any reliable drug store.—Adv.

TALBERT P.-T. A. PLAYS HOST TO COUNTY HEADS

By MRS. NEAL BEISEL
Fourth District Press Chairman

That accidents in the home take 24,000 lives annually, and that these figures total 1000 more lives than are lost in traffic accidents, was the startling declaration made by W. G. Saunders, Los Angeles representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California, at a Parent-Teacher meeting held in Talbert yesterday.

The Fourth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, is emphasizing the safety program of the automobile club and has sponsored safety clubs in every school with remarkable success. Saunders delivered a vivid address on the various accidents which may befall children and placed the responsibility of educating the child so that he may care for himself adequately, squarely with the parents in the home. Outside agencies are taking every means to arouse a self-protective interest in the child and it only remains for the parents to realize the necessity of action in the home. W. M. Cory, of the farm bureau, accompanied Saunders and assisted in the presentation of a film on the subject of safety first.

A capacity audience taxed the seating room of the Fountain valley school at Talbert, and greeted fourth district officers and the local Parent-Teacher corps with enthusiasm. The Parent-Teacher association at Talbert is unique in that its membership is composed of 30 per cent Japanese, 40 per cent Mexican, and 30 per cent American parents. The officers of the association are composed impartially of all three races and the organization is proving its worth to the school administration.

Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, retiring president of the Fourth District, accompanied by Mrs. Neal Beisel, incoming president, and Mrs. Wellington De La Vergne, chairman of extension, were present to install the new corps of officers. The newly organized Boy Scout Troop No. 9 of Talbert, under Scoutmaster Woodson, participated in the program with the ever impressive salute to the flag, and closing "Taps" song. No more conclusive proof of the worth of scouting could have been given, than the eager faces of three nationalities, under the insignia of the Boy Scouts, moving with but one purpose, to demonstrate the brotherhood of man.

A short program was given by the Campfire Girls and children of the school under the direction of Miss Effie Jessup, director of music in the school.

PROVING THE THEORY—

Kennedy, for divorce, it was found that Mrs. Kennedy and her mother had married brothers, which made her mother her sister-in-law. Mrs. Kennedy's two children were niece and nephew to their grandmother. After an adjournment the judge decided that the younger Mrs. Kennedy was her own aunt and took the suit under advisement.

DONOHUE'S RECORD UNIQUE

The career of Pitcher Pete Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds is one of the most unique in the major leagues. Donohue reported to Cincinnati fresh from college baseball and, according to Manager Jack Hendricks, was at that time a finished moundsman, qualified to oppose the league's best swatsmiths.

Saints Meet Hilltoppers Tomorrow

POLY FIELD TUSSLE WITH FAST SAN DIEGO NINE TO CLOSE S. A. BALL SEASON

Saving the best for the last, Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana high school baseball team will wind up its gruelling 1928 season at Poly field here tomorrow afternoon when it goes against the powerful nine from San Diego high school, undisputed leader of the Coast Preparatory league and probable opponent of Fullerton in this year's playoff for the Southern California prep crown.

Umpires W. B. Wentz and "Rube" Ellis will send them off at 2:30 o'clock.

The chief strength of the visiting squad is concentrated in Coach Mike Morrow's ace pitcher, Captain Frank Dobranski, a great young prospect. Dobranski apparently is too good a gunner for high school company and, of course, will make it uncomfortable for the Saints who, however, have nothing to lose in this conflict and can swing at Dobranski's hooks from the heels. If they connect often enough they might make it embarrassing for this gifted Hilltopper.

Dobranski has lost only one game this year, a 10-inning 5-4 thriller at Long Beach. In his first six league games to date, the San Diego hurler has struck out 77 batsmen, an average of nearly 13 a game.

Coach Foote's Saints are sadly crippled for this important clinch. Bob Drysdale and John Willcutt, the locals' first string pitchers, are both ill and while Willcutt may be in shape to work he is bound to be weakened somewhat. Drysdale has the measles and, of course, is absolutely out of it. Should Willcutt be unable to toil, Foote will start Wendell Vance and Marvin Johnston, an outfielder, will be the only available reservist.

The probable lineup:

Santa Ana	Pos.	San Diego
Willcutt	P	Dobranski
Vance	C	Clarkson
Youel	1B	Pierson
R. Sullivan	2B	Ramage
Hall	3B	Dobbing
W. Sullivan	SS	Pappert
Beatty	LF	Tyler
Schuchardt	CF	Joerndt
Johnston	RF	McNeely

BOB O'FARRELL GOES TO GIANT CLUB IN TRADE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 11.—Following in the footsteps of his predecessor, Bob O'Farrell, 1927 manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has been traded to the New York Giants just as was Rogers Hornsby.

O'Farrell, provided the physical disabilities that kept him from recent games, may be overcome, will go to John McGraw's club in exchange for the veteran outfielder, George Harper. The trade became known last night.

St. Louis fans were almost as puzzled over this sudden shift of the popular O'Farrell as they were two years ago, when Hornsby, who had led the Cardinals to their first championship, suddenly was sent to New York in exchange for Frank Frisch and Jimmy Ring.

'SIR WALTER' SCORES AGAIN

Walter Hagen, America's premier professional golfer, won the British Open championship for the third time today when with two brilliant rounds he came from behind to finish his 72 holes with an aggregate of 292 strokes. Gene Sarazen, also of the United States, was second.

AMERICAN FINISHES WITH TWO BRILLIANT ROUNDS; GENE SARAZEN IS THIRD

SANDWICH, Eng., May 11.—Walter Hagen today succeeded Bobby Jones as British Open golf champion, winning the title for the third time with a splendid aggregate of 292. Little Gene Sarazen, of New York, was close at Hagen's heels with an aggregate of 294.

Hagen played two billiant par rounds over the Royal St. George's course, playing as steady as clockwork, while his more temperamental rivals cracked and later stepped smilingly up to receive the historic cup from the hands of the Prince of Wales.

History Repeats

It was at this same Sandwich course that Hagen first won the British Open in 1922 with an aggregate of 300. He won again at Hoylake in 1924 with 301.

Sarazen started the final round one stroke behind the new champion but where Hagen continued to reel off hole after hole in par figures, Sarazen was unequal to the task.

Needing a 71 to tie, Sarazen took 73, which left him with a total of two strikes behind Hagen.

Sarazen's game fight for second place, however, compared favorably with the last round efforts of "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn and Jose Jurado, both of whom "cracked" and went to pieces.

Compston is Third

Archie Compston, British professional, who defeated Hagen so soundly at match play last month, led the home-breds with a total of 295, three strokes behind Hagen and a stroke behind Sarazen. This entitled Compston to third place.

Fred Robson, British pro, took a 75 on his last round and tied

S. A., WHITTIER CLASH TONIGHT ON NEW FIELD

Santa Ana's new night baseball park, as yet without a name, will be unofficially thrown open to the public tonight when the local County league team opposes the strong Whittier All-Stars. Game-time is supposed to be 8 o'clock.

The new home of the lunar recreation is located in the northwest corner of what until recently was the Santa Ana city reservoir at Sixth and Olive streets.

This property is now under lease to the Santa Ana Night Baseball association and work has begun on making it the finest diamond of its type in the Southland. It will not be really ready for this early season set-to as the bleachers have not been fully arranged nor has the outfield been leveled completely but the game will serve to show the public what it may expect in

ROBERTI MEETS PHIL SCOTT IN BOUT TONIGHT

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Phil ("Shuffling") Scott, who abandoned the pursuit of London fires to drape the great American cauliflower canvas, will be examined concerning his shock absorbing qualities tonight when he meets the ungainly 220-pound macaroni man, Roberto Roberti from Italy.

A bout with Jack Sharkey, the revitalized Lithuanian, awaits the winner of this 10-round engagement in Madison Square Garden.

Scott has been seeking to re-establish the prestige of English heavyweights and made his debut with a knockout at the hands of the none too durable Dane, Knute Hansen.

Since that lamentable beginning, the former fire laddie has not been permanently perpendicular during his fights, but he has acquired a trick of bounding from the canvas before even a fairly agile time-keeper can arrive at the count of ten.

Being quite a boxer, Scott can outpoint most second raters who do not tack him to the canvas promptly, and permanently. It is not believed that big Roberti can do the trick.

Roberti has been coming steadily to the fore over the prostrate bodies of "ham and beaners." A giant of a man, standing some 6 feet 4 and weighing his 220 on the hoof he is possessed of a tremendous right hand punch.

ANAHEIM COUNCIL LEGALIZES BOXING

ANAHEIM, May 11.—Boxing was legalized here last night when the city council changed the city ordinance regulating the staging of amateur boxing and granted a city license to the Anaheim Amateur Athletic club.

The club is sponsored by members of the Concordia club, pioneer athletic organization of the city. One boxing program has already been given by the club but the action of the city council last night makes it possible for the [illegible] to continue.

Perfect Control Is Reason For Young Cincinnati Hurler's Success

By BILLY EVANS

Pete Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds is what I would call a master pitcher.

My definition of a master pitcher is one who combines natural ability and a keen mind, poise, common sense, and the greatest of all pitching assets—control.

"Pete Donohue was a finished big league pitcher the day he made his debut in a Cincinnati uniform direct from college," was a remark the late Pat Moran once made to me when discussing Donohue.

"He is the only rookie pitcher I ever saw break into the majors who didn't need experience or instruction to polish off the rough spots."

Donohue joined Cincinnati in 1921, coming direct from Texas Christian university, where for three years he was the sensation of college baseball in that section.

Never Below .500

In his first year he won 7 games and lost 6. He has shown constant improvement each year and has never fallen below the .500 mark.

Control more than anything else made the name of Mathewson a baseball byword; it is doing the same for Pete Donohue.

Last season, in 47 games Donohue gave but 39 bases on balls. Pete believes in making the batter earn his way on. Less than a base on balls per game is almost an unbelieveable performance these days over an entire season of play.

"And don't forget," remarked Manager Jack Hendricks when I discussed this phase of Donohue's work with him, "that I probably ordered Donohue to walk 10 men last year, preferring an intentional pass to giving them a chance to hit."

That would bring Donohue's actual passes as a result of loss of control down to a mere 29 for 47 games. Some record.

Records Show Control

Going back over the dope, we find that in the 220 games he has pitched since joining the National league, he has given only 261 bases on balls.

In his first year in the majors,

FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

A pink cheeked, cheery, chubby chap going on sixty years of age, natty from boutonniere to spats, paused at our desk the other day to inquire the result of the fifth race at Pimlico.

It was our old friend Jack McAuliffe, who more than 30 years ago retired undefeated as lightweight champion of the world.

"What do you think of next week's fight?" we asked him, knowing that the affair between Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin was on his mind.

"I think there's a good chance for the Irishman," said Jack. "It's 'bout time the lightweight champion came back to the Irish race."

"It's a funny thing about the lightweight title anyhow," he continued. "It has had a funny run.

"There never was an American lightweight champion of the world until the original Nonpareil Jack Dempsey. All the title-holders before him were Englishmen. And Dempsey no sooner had won the title than he grew too heavy for the division and had to pass it on.

"In May, 1885, following a bout on the coast, Young Mitchell of California claimed the world's championship.

"I had been licking them all, so I immediately challenged Young Mitchell to fight for the title and $1000 on the side. The only stipulation I made was that the fight should take place at least 1000 miles east of Chicago.

"The match never was made, and I claimed the title and held it until 1897, not 1893, as some of the records say.

"Well, I was Irish all right, and they knew it when I was fighting. But since then—after I retired undefeated—we've had Lavigne, Gans, Nelson, Wolgast, Ritchie, Welch, Leonard, Kansas and Mandell. You can't find an Irishman in that crowd. Maybe Jimmy Goodrich was Irish but he didn't last long.

"Now the lightweight championship belongs to the Irish race and it's high time it was coming back.

"This McLarnin boy looks as though he could do the trick, for he's certainly a hitter. When he let go at Sid Terris that night up in Madison Square Garden I threw up my hat and I haven't found it yet. We Irishmen must stick together."

WALTER HAGEN WINS BRITISH GOLF TITLE

Percy Alliss, of Berlin, for fourth place, with a total of 298.

Barnes, Jurado and Aubrey Boomer of St. Cloud, France, tied for sixth with 301.

Leading Hagen by three strokes when the day's play started, little Jurado from Buenos Aires blew up and lost 12 strokes to the new titleholder, finishing with rounds of 76 and 80 for a total of 301.

"Long Jim" Barnes, who won the British Open in 1925, was too far behind to Catch Hagen, but turned in rounds of 76-73 to tie Jurado at 301.

Mehlhorn's play today was extremely erratic and he finished with 76-77 for a total of 302.

THRONG GATHERS FOR PREAKNESS RUNNING

BALTIMORE, Md., May 11.—The big eastern derby day arrived today with between 30,000 and 40,000 persons crowding into Baltimore to watch the thirty-seventh running of the rich Preakness this afternoon.

Twenty-one horses, from the east and west, were entered for the race that will mean so much in deciding what horses are of the caliber to be entered in the Kentucky Derby next week.

Nassak, Distraction, Strolling Player, Honker and Victorian are among the horses receiving the heavy backing. The former is the one by which Harry F. Sinclair hopes to make up for the failure of Zev in the 1923 Preakness.

GOOD CONTROL MADE DONAHUE BALL STAR

Donohue took part in 21 games and but 26 players got on through passes. Wildness is a fault that handicaps practically every rookie, but not Donohue.

That first year exhibition of control best explains why Pat Moran said Donohue was a real big league pitcher the day he made his debut.

"The fact that Donohue never gives the batter anything fat, is ever ready to slip over his curve with the count three and two, and always makes an effort to pitch to the batter's weakness, makes his record for control all the more uncanny," says his manager, Jack Hendricks.

"I've watched a lot of pitchers since I have been in baseball, but none compares with Donohue as to control."

BUTCHERS HAND FIRST BEATING TO SHELL OILS

Orlyn Robertson, the big ball and strike man of the Arnold Peek market baseball club, pitched in his 1924 form at Lincoln park yesterday and the previously undefeated Shell Oilers were unceremoniously removed from their perch atop the Santa Ana Twilight league, leaving first place in sole possession of the powerful Auto Club of Orange County.

Robertson held the hard-hitting Royal Dutchmen to seven hits, twirling hitless ball in four of the seven frames. He had only one tough round, the fifth, when Hixon's double, Dorman's walk and singles by Veale, Smith and Roehm accounted for three tallies. The other Shell counter was produced in the first on Roehm's double, an infield out and a wild pitch.

Hixon, who had won his first three starts for the Shell Oils, was punished severely, the Butchers collecting 14 base knocks, Ebersole and Bracewell leading the attack with three bingles apiece.

This quarrel completed the fourth round of play in the Twilight circuit. Play will be resumed next Monday when the Shell Oils go against the American Bugle and Drum corps. The box score:

STORM VICTIM IS SUFFERING FROM STROKE

That the freak tornado which hit southwest Santa Ana on the morning of February 4 left real want and suffering in its wake was revealed today.

Many reisdents of the city probably have forgotten that the sudden twister singled out the small chicken ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Al Clyde, 901 South Bristol street, picked up their poultry houses and dropped them in a scattered mass of wreckage, killed over 400 fowls and left the couple facing ruin.

But for the last two months Clyde, who is 69 years of age, has been propped in bed suffering with paralysis which came as a result of injuries received in the disaster. For a month after the storm he worked at repairing the damage. But a flying stick which hit him in the back of the head during the cyclone, while he was rushing toward his home, thinking his wife was in danger, caused a blood clot which brought on the paralysis on March 13.

Unable to work, he has been faced with the necessity of paying $30 a month rent and $16.60 a month on the remaining 440 chickens, which he says he is buying from his landlord. The poultry brings in enough to take care of these obligations but there is nothing left for food.

A subscription was taken up immediately after the windstorm and between $35 and $50 was collected. This money is reported to have gone to the landlord, who used it in replacing the roof on one of the buildings.

Clyde is determined to pay for the chickens, for he does not want to lose his chance to make good on his small farm after he recovers.

His son, Otto Clyde, has come to the assistance of his parents and is doing outside work when he gets time after caring for the chickens and farm. He has planted corn and beans on the five acres of rented land and expects to realize a profit when the crops mature.

The period of waiting until the returns begin to come in is the problem which the family is having difficulty in solving. The situation has come to the attention of Walter Gregg, county aid commissioner, and assistance has been extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde came to Santa Ana two years ago after experiencing a similar setback in a cyclone at Twin Falls, Idaho.

WILL OF BEACH MAN EXCLUDED FROM PROBATE

The will of the late W. R. Wharton, Huntington Beach, whereby Violet Voight, 24, of Los Angeles, is alleged to have been awarded half of his estate through undue influence on Wharton, had been excluded from probate today by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames.

Marcella Wharton, 21, a daughter, to whom Wharton is said to have wished to give his property, was granted letters of administration.

The amount to be distributed is $10,000, but John N. Wharton, a brother of the deceased man, declared on the witness stand yesterday that Violet Voight had received gifts amounting to $30,000 before the death of the Huntington Beach man.

He referred to her in his will as his "beloved sweetheart and intended wife." In filing her contest of the will, Marcella Wharton asserted that Violet Voight had extracted thousands of dollars from her father by threatening to break off her engagement to him.

John Wharton yesterday said that his brother's body had been found under circumstances which suggested suicide, on September 14. He believed that Wharton had taken poison shortly after making his will on September 12.

SCHOOLS TO BE DISCUSSED AT BEACH TONIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH, May 11.—Dr. O. R. Hull and Dr. Willard Ford, school survey experts recently employed to conduct a survey of Orange county school conditions will speak to citizens of this district at a special meeting in the grammar school tonight. They will talk on the high school situation in Newport Beach and will explain their recommendations.

Considerable effort has been made here to secure a separate high school. The section is at present included in the Santa Ana high school district. The Santa Ana school board this week authorized the calling of a large bond issue, the board contemplating the building of a four-year junior high school in the Costa Mesa district to serve the people of the district.

Sentiment in the harbor district on the bond issue is about evenly divided. Some are opposed to Santa Ana building a school in the district as they point out it will forever stop the district from forming its own high school district. Others declare that they believe that the method is the only solution to the present problem. They declare that the district under the law cannot be separated from Santa Ana and that the construction of a junior high school here will keep the children closer to home. The main objection to the present plan has been the sending of young children so far to school.

5-ACRE SITE PURCHASED BY SCHOOL BOARD

ANAHEIM, May 11.—Completion of the purchase of a five-acre school site in the southwest section of the city has just been effected by the board of trustees of the Anaheim grammar school district, while plans are also being made by the board for comprehensive improvements to be made in the Fremont intermediate school, Superintendent Melbourne A. Gauer revealed this morning.

In September, 1926, the board, carrying out a program of purchasing strategically located school sites in advance of need, purchased three and a half acres of the Joseph W. Heinz valencia grove located at the corner of Janss and Water streets, at a consideration of $14,000.

At the same time an option was taken on the remaining portion of the nearly five-acre tract at the stipulated consideration of $7000. As the option is due to expire May 28 next, the board has decided to exercise its option without further delay, Superintendent Gauer reported.

Previous to purchasing this site, the board acquired a four and a half acre tract on North Palm street, the grammar school district now being well prepared for the growth of population and assured well located sites for future additional school buildings, he pointed out.

PICTURE SUBJECT FOR ORANGE SERMON

ORANGE, May 11.—The picture of the "dirtiest tramp in the world" will be used to illustrate the evening sermon at the First Christian church, Sunday at a Mother's day service. The sermon will be delivered by the pastor of the church, the Rev. D. Skidmore MacDonald.

According to Dodge, the casion of each visit he is given a bath, a suit of clothes and 30 days in jail, after which treat he starts on his wandering way to return the next spring and go through the same program.

The tramp is pictured against the barred window of the jail. He has an unusual face and a high intelligent forehead but in spite of his prepossessing appearance it is said on good authority that he returns each year with the same suit of clothes which he claims he has not removed in this time.

Bridge was played, and first prize was secured by Miss Helen Sawdey, second by Miss Stella Graham, and to Miss Wilson was awarded the special prize. This was a great basket of gifts, chosen for future use and beauty in the new home of the honor guest. Refreshments were served at a late hour, on the prettily decorated card tables.

The friends to whom the wedding date was announced, and who shared in the varied pleasures of the evening with hostesses and honor guests were Mrs. Leona Briggs, Miss Helen Love, Miss Blanche Yokum, Miss Stella Graham, Miss Helen Sawdey, Miss Bessie Close, Miss Betty Frederick, Miss Eva Turton, Miss Grace Knapp and Mrs. Everett Montgomery (Agnes Smith.)

Birthday Is Celebrated At Enjoyable Party In Harrell Home

Complimenting the fifteenth birthday of Miss Lillian Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Harrell, 1922 North Broadway, was a surprise party planned by the honoree's sister, Miss Laverne Harrell, and held Wednesday night at their home.

Fluffy snowballs were combined with deep pink roses in the artistic decorations of the home, and established a color scheme which was maintained in all decorative details of the evening, including the refreshments served at a late hour. CHURCH SOCIETIES

Missionary Meeting

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the missionary society of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon, and those present enjoyed an excellent program prepared by the committee with Mrs. E. F. Gaebe chairman.

The Rev. R. H. Silverthorn, assistant pastor of the church, gave a helpful devotional service using for the scripture lesson part of the fourth chapter of Matthew, where Jesus exhorts his disciples to become fishers of men. Mrs. Elizabeth Clark presented a reading program, urging the members to become familiar with the books to be used by the mission study classes this fall.

Mrs. W. W. Anderson brought a message from Miss Estella Daniel telling of her safe arrival in Valparaiso, Chile, after visiting relatives and friends in Santa Ana and vicinity last winter. Miss Daniel is principal of a school under the Presbyterian board, at Valparaiso. Mrs. Grace Frees read an interesting paper describing conditions in the various countries of Latin America.

Mrs. Charles Lewis, a college mate of Mrs. Donald Smiley of El Modena whom she is visiting, gave a graphic description of the work in which she and her husband are engaged in Yuengkong, China. Telling amusing incidents in connection with her experience in learning the Chinese language. She also told of the handicaps they encounter in the hospital work because of inadequate equipment, but in spite of this fact a vast amount of help and comfort is given to the many natives seeking their ministry. A most unusual remedy for the blues was given. When tired and discouraged they don their hiking clothes and walk to the leper colony. Here they find the most pathetic cases of human suffering, but 90 per cent of the lepers are Christians and from them they receive such an inspiration that they return to their home refreshed and encouraged.

Mrs. Lewis' entire address held the close attention of the audience and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Friends Plan Shower As Compliment to Young Matron

Decorative appointments for a luncheon given yesterday afternoon in the pleasant home of Mrs. Lynn Hutchins, 722 South Parton street, were all in the "baby" colors of pink and blue, in compliment to Mrs. Earl Smith, for whom the enjoyable afternoon was planned.

Cecil Brunner rosebuds and delicately tinted sweet peas were used to center the linen-spread card tables where lunch was served, and also filled graceful baskets and bowls arranged through the rooms. The menu was a delicious one to which each guest contributed her favorite dish. Baby cards were placed for name cards, and salted nuts were contained in wee pink and blue baby shoes.

Bunko played in the afternoon yielded prizes to Mrs. Arland Purington, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Flora Billey. As the final enjoyable feature, Mrs. Smith was presented with the doll's cradle, which standing just within the front door, had received the daint-wrapped packages brought by the guests. These contained a variety of exquisite little garments for a layette.

Guests assembled by Mrs. Hutchins to compliment Mrs. Smith, were Mesdames R. T. Dixon, Arland Purington, Melvin Head, John Morse, Frank Rounds, Flora Billey, A. R. Winter, Ezra Handy, Robert Smith and Vinton Motry.

Girl, 10, Becomes Youngest Heckler

GLASGOW, May 11—The youngest heckler on record, a girl of 10 years, made her appearance during the conference of the Scottish Liberal federation here. The rosy cheeked lass, wearing a red tam-o'-shanter, a red jersey, and tartan skirt, entered the conference hall at an afternoon session and took a front seat, almost unnoticed.

During the debate on industrial relations, the girl suddenly remarked in a shrill but very clear voice: "If we had more engineering we should have less unemployment."

She remained quite composed and sat looking at the chairman while the eyes of the federation were turned upon her. An attendant came forward and escorted her from the hall.

ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

One wonders just how many mothers are envious of the mother of the Seattle baby who started smoking pipes and cigars at ten months and chewed tobacco more vehemently than the milk bottle nipple when a year old. The baby, Freddie Riggs, now is three years old and a perfect specimen. His mother explains his splendid physique by the way he began to pick up when he grabbed up his Dad's pipe at the ripe old age of 10 months and began to puff and puff.

Strong as the maternal instinct is which will fight tooth and nail for a child's welfare, one wonders if the approval of the mob isn't so much stronger that most mothers would prefer a sickly child to one made husky by a socially condemned process.

TRY'N GET IT!

Five girls are asking $1,250,000 damages from a radium company. The girls painted luminous watch dials. In order to keep a point on their brushes they twirled them between their lips at frequent intervals. The five girls are suffering from radium poisoning. They may not get damages for none of them has been employed by the company for some time. Doctors say that the disease may not show itself for 18 years after the entrance of the poison.

Just one more little illustration of some of the cons of this "career outside the home" business, for the special benefit of occasionally envious stay-at-home ladies.

WOULD THEY?

There's either something radically different between German and American girls or something radically different between our Lindbergh and the Gretchens' Baron Von Huenefeld. For a German paper which recently issued a questionnaire to its flaxen-haired maidens asking if and why they would like to wed their famous flier, said no. "Whys" were mainly because they said his fame soon would be forgotten and they did not care to be a mere satellite of a famous husband.

Can you imagine many or any American girls caring a hang whether Lindy stayed famous or not, or whether he was more famous than them or not? There are some men concerning whom girls never begin to find reasons for not marrying, but plenty why they should.

You don't often hear of a man asking for a divorce because his wife doesn't let him see enough of his mother-in-law. But that's just what Robert Brant of Los Angeles did the other day. He said that his wife wouldn't let him see her mother, and that he was very fond of said lady and missed her. He got his decree. He certainly should have. Maybe he's started a new deal for mothers-in-law. Most of them deserve one.

SIDESTEPPING TROUBLE

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 11.—Although he had consumed considerable liquor, Charles Kedinas still was able to realize that a real fight might come as a result of his alcoholic sparring bout. Acting on this conviction he stamped into police headquarters where he was accommodated with a private cell. The next morning Judge Hackett complimented his foresight and suspended sentence.

Again the band struck up a tune that sounded fine. Then, pretty soon, the Tinymites jumped and rushed right out upon the ground. "We're going to dance, and run and play," yelled Clowny Tinymite. "Hurray!" The flowers were quite excited and they quickly gathered 'round.

But, as they started on their lark, the sun went down and it grew dark. "Oh, my," said one small daisy, "it is much too dark to see." Then, from the air a wee voice said, "You want to dance? Well, go ahead. I'll see that you are given light. Just leave that up to me."

A lot of sparks the Tinies spied. "Why, they are fireflies," Scouty cried. And, as the flies lit up the spot the Tinies danced in glee. The little flowers soon joined right in. The band kept up an adful din, but everybody seemed to be as happy as could be.

All through the night they played and danced. The whole bunch laughed as Clowny pranced. He did a crazy step till it made him all tired out. And then a funny thing took place. The flowers all began to race back to their little garden spot. The Tinies heard them shout:

"Here comes the gardener! We must go back where we came from 'cause we know that he'll be very, very mad if we're not in the ground. Please help us to cover up our feet with dirt so we will look real neat. The Tinies rushed to help them. Then, when through, they looked around.

The gardener came upon the scene. Said he, "Of course this may be mean, but I will have to say good-bye until some other day." The Tinies shook his hand and then he turned and disappeared again. "What shall we do," said Scouty, "Now that he has gone away?"

Rice Souffle

Four tablespoons rice, 1/2 cup milk, 3 eggs, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-2 cup stoned and chopped dates, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, few grains salt.

Cook rice in boiling water until tender. Drain and blanch. Add milk and cook over hot water until milk is absorbed. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar and salt and add with butter to rice. Cook over hot water for three minutes. Remove from heat and add dates. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Add vanilla and turn into a buttered baking dish. Bake 20 minutes in a slow oven and serve warm with hard sauce.

AT THE THEATERS

WEST COAST-WALKER

The inability of a great number of persons to say "No" has resulted in a fair percentage of disasters in the world but the inability of Bebe Daniels to say "Yes" results in a screamingly funny motion picture comedy, "The Fifty-Fifty Girl," the attraction now playing at the West Coast-Walker theater.

At any rate, that is the promise of John McDermott when he, with Miss Daniels in mind, concocted the story of the headstrong, modern young woman who begrudged the man the right to wear the trousers.

Miss Daniels, as the intelligent but a bit prejudiced young woman who thinks she is the equal of any male under any circumstances meets and falls in love with James Hall, despite the aggressive measures employed by the latter. How she finally agrees to concede his mastery is told in a series of humorous situations.

McDermott has been responsible for many of the Bebe Daniels comedy successes on the screen, among which are "Senorita" and "She's a Shiek."

Members of the cast who appear in support of Miss Daniels in the production include James Hall, William Austin, George Kotsonaros, Johnnie Morris and Alfred Allen.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

For the second time in his screen career Monte Blue appears as a professional fighter. "Hogan's Alley," current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater, brought him high acclaim from film fans and fight fans everywhere, and in the part of "One Round Hogan" he wins new laurels. "One Round Hogan," besides being a fight story is a love story, which may be much the same thing.

He is cast as the son of a one time champion heavyweight played by Jim Jeffries. Young Hogan's best pal is Ed Davis, touted by "Big Joe" Morgan, his manager, as the greatest of white hopes. Hogan, emulating his friend, trains for the ring secretly and one day meets Davis's sister Helen, who detests the ring and pleads with Hogan to urge her brother to give up fighting.

WEST END THEATER

The picture is replete with action, vividly colored and contains a charming love romance such as is seldom seen in a picture of this character.

There is no doubt that McCoy, who came to the screen only little more than a year ago, does his best work in this picture, not only as a soldier and stunt rider but as a lover.

And while, in "Glorious Betsy," you hear Conrad Nagel make love to Dolores Costello you see them too, for they are sitting in a beautiful garden that the camera caught at the same time that the Vitaphone caught their voices and the singing in the distance. This combination of action and sound makes the perfect motion picture, and marks the opening of a new realm of possibilities for screen art. The screen has been given a tongue and has added ears to its present audience of eyes.

THIS

New key-opened coffee can!

—with entirely new and different features

1

The key is embedded in a patented key-groove that protects it from loss in transit and enables you to grasp it easily and to remove it with two fingers.

The lid fits inside the top of the can. It is not necessary to span the can with the hand to pull off the lid. Simply place both thumbs under the edge of the lid and exert a slight lifting pressure—the lid will open easily.

M·J·B Coffee is now packed in a key-opened vacuum can. More important still, it is packed in an entirely new type of key-opened vacuum can with striking new features.

The new M·J·B key-opened vacuum can is entirely devoid of sharp or rough edges, insuring you against cutting your fingers.

The new M·J·B key-opened vacuum can has a tight cover that fits inside the body of the can, making an exceptionally tight seal to keep the coffee fresh after the can has been opened.

For some time, we have packed M·J·B Coffee by our own patented vacuum process adopted because of its overwhelming supremacy in producing the highest and most uniform vacuum commercially attainable. This process brings the coffee to your kitchen as fresh as the minute it was roasted. And now, better to preserve the coffee after you have opened the can, we have developed this key-can with a cover that can be replaced to make a tight seal.

M·J·B Coffee is blended of only the world's finest full-bodied coffees and has been known for years for its unquestioned superiority of flavor. It is characteristic of this flavor that it is always in the cup, whether you drink M·J·B mild, medium, or strong.

There are no rough edges anywhere on the M·J·B can to cut your fingers. Both the edge of the can and the edge of the lid are rolled into smooth surfaces. No matter how you grasp them or how hard you press or rub your fingers against them, there is nothing to cut or annoy you. Most women will find this the greatest feature of all.

Because the lid fits inside the can, it is easily replaced. More important still, the new type of top makes a tight seal. This protects the coffee after the can has been opened and keeps it fresh to the last spoon-full.

CRISCO

When you come to think of it—should you fry in a fat you are unwilling to taste any more than you would use milk you are unwilling to taste?

A suggested test: Place a bit of Crisco on the tip of a spoon; on another spoon, a little of any other fat. Taste Crisco first, then the other fat.

Did you dream there could be such a difference in the taste of cooking fats? Do you wonder that over 2,500,000 good cooks prefer Crisco?

A SUGGESTION—

"Roast leg of lamb for dinner—they will all be there and on time. When this popular roast is browning, its savory aroma stealing through the house stirs impatient appetites and plenty of helping hands appear to set the table. "Meat, especially lamb, is a natural appetizer. Its aroma whets the desire for food. Its flavor promotes the ready flow of digestive juices. This meat, which in itself is readily digestible, proves an aid in the assimilation of other foods. And, of course, you are particular about the kind of lamb you want. Standard Trails In Yosemite Park

BAKERSFIELD, May 11—Hikers of California will find the wonderful scenery of the Sequoia National park more accessible with the construction of new standard trails.

The old trails have been in use in the park for many years, but because of steep grades, poor maintenance and narrowness they are not considered good enough to serve their purpose now.

Sequoia National park will receive an appropriation of $36,000 from the national park service. Most of this will be used on the High Sierra trail, which will connect Giant forest with John Muir trail to Yosemite and Mount Whitney.

Several other trails are to be constructed from the appropriation money this year.

Hard to say just how much "luck" there is to baking. But I notice that the women who have good luck are the ones who always bake with FLUFFO

N. Y.-LONDON TRIP IN 48 HOURS, PLAN

By ALFRED P. RECK

WASHINGTON, May 11.—From New York to London in 48 hours and with all the comforts of the most luxurious ocean liners!

This may sound like a dream of Julius Verne but it will be accomplished this year by the R-100, a British airship, built under direction of Commander C. Dennis Burney, M. P.

The Burney ship, of 5,000,000 cubic feet displacement, has progressed so far that it is expected to be ready for trial flights in July.

American capital has become interested in the R-100 and a Detroit group has taken an option on a substantial interest in the Burney company with a view of establishing a fleet of six 9,000,000 cubic feet air liners built on the Burney designs and for use in London-New York traffic.

Half of these ships would be built in the United States and half in England with the operating company owned jointly by British and American capital.

The R-100 will carry 100 passengers and 10 tons of express freight. It will be able to make the eastward passage in 48 hours and the trip from London to New York via the Azores in 60 hours. The southern route on the westward passage is contemplated to avoid head winds.

If plans for the trans-Atlantic airship company materialize, the R-100 will be used as an experimental ship, followed up by the larger dirigibles with capacities for 140 passengers and 20 tons of freight.

The R-100 has been furnished, the staterooms are completed and rugs have already been laid in the dining salon.

WE FIX ALMOST ANYTHING. Fix it Shop, 105 E. 3rd.—Adv.

Missourian Skates To Eastern Coast

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 11.—Asa Hall, of Mexico, Mo., left here recently via roller skates for New York.

"I'll roll over each of the 1500 miles," he said cheerfully as he left Kansas City with a letter from Mayor Beach to which will be added the names of other mayors Hall plans to visit enroute.

The skater said he is making the long trip to settle a wager of $500. He anticipates little trouble skating over the graveled highways, he said, and plans to average much better than walking or "bunion derby" time.

Hall left here for St. Louis whence his route would take him to Chicago and the eastern coast.

Rodeo Cruelty Is Charged By Group

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Members of the California Anti-Rodeo Cruelty association have started a drive to eliminate certain events of rodeos which they claim cause undue suffering for animals.

Among the events outlawed by the organization are bulldogging and certain kinds of racing.

Financial and Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 11.—Continuation of the local re-discount rate at 4 per cent and the relatively small increase in brokerage loans reported at the close of the market yesterday brought urgent buying into speculative leaders today and the whole market displayed a buoyant tone.

Heavy dealings featured early trading and the forward movement gained momentum as the session progressed under the strong leadership of Steel Common, which reached a new high on the movement.

The action of General Motors also was reassuring to the bull element and brisk advances were scored by Chrysler and some of the lower priced issues, including Moon and Chandler-Cleveland.

Rails developed a better tone under the leadership of Kansas City Southern; Missouri, Kansas and Texas and St. Louis Southwestern the latter selling at a new high for the year.

Oils were sluggish, although Richfield was taken in large blocks at its highest level of the year.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, May 11.—Wheat lacked confidence today and trading was unsettled on the board of trade with the belief general that there will be more liquidation before the market becomes settled. Corn had an early advance but dropped late in the day while oats failed to maintain a sharp rally. Provisions were unchanged.

Closing prices were ⅝@1⅛ higher, corn off ⅛@¼, oats ⅜@1.

Wheat had an early upturn due to reports that 1,000,000 bushels had been sold for export overnight. The cash market was unchanged.

Corn advanced early but afiled to hold. The cash market dropped ½ to 1c, oats also rallied early in the day, but later lost the gain. The cash market was ½c higher.

Your kitchen can be BEAUTIFUL too!

The modern way is to make the kitchen as attractive and livable as other rooms of the house. With warm-toned walls and woodwork, the gleam of porcelain and nickel seems brighter; gay curtains appear more colorful; the entire room takes on a new and unexpected charm.

You can make your kitchen attractive without neglecting practical features, by painting the walls, woodwork, built-in fixtures and furniture with FULLERGLO.

This satiny finish, despite its delicate pastel shades, is always easy to keep fresh and clean. Even indelible pencil marks can be washed from the FULLERGLO surface. For large jobs, it is best to employ a Master Painter, but you can easily do the smaller jobs yourself. A descriptive card, showing the many beautiful FULLERGLO tints, may be obtained at your Fuller Dealer's. His name appears below.

WHAT WILL $15,000 BUY?

Just this, today—a five acre full bearing Valencia grove. Of course you may question its worth and we have just this to say: The average crop has been, net from the packing house, about $4000 per year; it is extremely well located, practically free from frost, and but slightly harmed by the winds. Besides being an income project, it is well situated and can be highly recommended as a home site. If you fail to investigate this, you can charge it up to your own loss. 2739.

MAY DAY IN EUROPE

May day in Europe was celebrated in much the usual way by the workers. There were parades, and banners, and speeches, some brick throwing and a few fist fights. Then things settled down again to normalcy. That is the usual story of May day in Europe. In every great capital, with the exception of Rome, there were demonstrations. Freedom of thinking, freedom of speech, freedom of action no longer exist in Italy. All the emotions of the Italian people are being pent up for the day of judgment. When they do break out, then will the world take notice.

The greatest celebration of May day was in Moscow. Walter Duranty, the New York Times correspondent in Moscow, has described it in a recent letter to the Times. Red Square was a mass of red display of banners and streamers. The Kremlin was a riot of red. A million men marched the streets. There were soldiers with natty uniforms, cavalry riding on blooded horses, artillery and tanks rumbling over the pavements, the army reserves, both men and women, great hosts of children, all demonstrating and proclaiming the victory of the proletariat over autocracy and capitalism.

The description of that May day celebration, with all its color and enthusiasm, is full of significance. Here is a power to be reckoned with. Behind its lines there appears to be stability and security. There is no other government in sight other than the government now in control. As an aggressive force against the rest of the world it is still weak, but as a spirit, it is destined to modify society. Communism is not a besetting danger in the world, but the spirit of dissatisfaction with things as they are is abroad, and with the growth of Russian power and wealth, (which there is no reason to believe can be stopped, for the business of the world is seeking concessions in Russia) the spirit of Russia will modify the present scheme of things.

There is no reason to be panicky about it. The changes will be gradual. We are not heading for revolution, but neither society nor systems of government are static or final. Change and progress, as well as decay and retrogression are wrapped up in the very nature of things. Open minds, constructive statesmanship, sensing the time spirit—these will effect inevitable changes with the least hardship and shock.

LET THE CANDIDATES SPEAK

The United States Chamber of Commerce has acted at a most opportune moment in passing its resolution condemning corruption and urging that stockholders could not without protest accept profits made through crookedness and expect to be guiltless in the transaction. There is a tremendous undercurrent of sentiment among the people of this country, which is demanding an expression of the indignation they feel over the conditions which they have learned exist in so much of our business and political life. As, day after day, these things have been uncovered showing rascality, particularly among what Roosevelt called "the malefactors of great wealth," the people have been more and more astounded that practically no word of rebuke has come from the leaders in our political, industrial, or social life.

The exceptions in the case of Borah, Norris, Walsh, Reed, and Nye have been just enough to place an emphasis on the great silence which has surrounded all others. Then the lightning flash of John D. Rockefeller Jr., the address of Judge Parker, and now comes this resolution from the United States Chamber of Commerce. The leaders of this great organization can see the end from the beginning. It takes a great deal to arouse the nation but when it is once aroused these leaders know that the people will not stop until they have taken possession in such a manner as will insure the elimination of corrupt alliances between big business men and big politicians. So the Chamber of Commerce says, (to paraphrase their resolution) and says rightly, "let us clean up, set our house in order, kick out the rascals, condemn and eliminate graft and bribery or it will be done for us in a way that we don't want." We believe that Herbert Hoover as President of the United States will appoint men in his cabinet who will assist him in conducting the great business of our country along the lines of honor, and will be governed by rules of integrity such as apparently have had little effect during recent years. The conditions which have been exposed must stir the sentiments of any sensitive man. We shall be disappointed if Mr. Hoover and other candidates do not give early expression to their sentiments and purposes on this matter, if they should be intrusted with the powers that go with the executive office of President of the United States.

THE PATH TO KNOWLEDGE

There are at the present day fully six times as many students in American colleges and universities as there were thirty years ago, according to figures compiled by the Federal Bureau of Education.

There is something for you to think about, if you are beginning to get pessimistic about our future. Grant that not all of our colleges are as efficient as they ought to be; grant that many young people do not attend them primarily to get an education; nevertheless, the figures reflect a spread of enlightenment and a desire for knowledge that are tremendously encouraging.

A democracy, to function at all, must be educated. These figures indicate that America is on the right path.

CHAMPIONS

The country is full of champions, and the number of them increases every day. New contests of skill and endurance are being invented, and everyone has a chance at a champion's belt or a victor's laurel. We have the champion pugilist, the champion batsman on the baseball team, the champion tennis player, the champion billiard player, the champion chess player, the champion golfer, and runner, and swimmer, and jumper, and automobile racer, and all the rest.

These are the ordinary garden variety of champions with which we are all familiar. Each one of these champions has his admirers and worshippers, but now we are broadening the field. We have a champion pie eater—the man who eats a dozen pies. We have the champion endurance dancers—the couple who dance for 79 hours continuously. We wonder if that couple will ever love to dance again just for sport. We have the champion rope dancer—the girl who skips rope for five hours consecutively. We have the champion ball bouncer—the fellow who bounces the ball 2300 times in succession. And the Lord only knows how many other champions we have whose achievements have not been chronicled by the all-seeing eyes of the newspaper reporter.

There is a story about the shepherd who worked for fifteen years trying to balance his staff on the point of his chin, and finally succeeded. A great feat, perhaps, but what of it? There are contests which amuse the crowds. There are tests of skill which develop the physical stamina of the man who engages in them. The daily dozen is not without its benefit to the man who does them in his pajamas just before going to bed, although we confess to some disappointment at the results ourselves. But what of these contestants like the pie eaters and the endurance dancers who do not furnish amusement in the long run, nor do they improve the race physically or in any other respect. The remark of Puck as he beheld the antics of men, has still its point: "What fools these mortals be!"

"BIG BILL" FOLLOWS IN THE PARADE

The episode in connection with the reception of the Bremen flyers at Chicago yesterday is well worth reading. Several thousand persons were waiting in a drizzling rain for the Junkers airplane bringing the famous flyers. There was the official car containing Big Bill, the mayor, and other dignitaries, and with gay decorations. Everything finally was ready for the parade to proceed to the Stevens Hotel when something happened.

Captain Hermann Koehl as he looked from the official car happened to spy Mrs. Elizabeth Koehl Blum, his father's sister, a lady seventy years old who had come in an airplane from Peoria to Chicago to greet her nephew. She was in a car also. Koehl leaped from the official car and ran to the one in which was his aunt, and jumped into a seat beside her. He remained there speaking and holding the hand of the smiling little lady. And then the Irishman, Fitzmaurice, realizing the situation, suggested to Baron von Huenefeld, that they join the aunt and nephew which they instantly did. The parade started, through the rain to the Stevens Hotel, with the old lady leading the way and Big Bill in the official car following.

Again we are glad to note that blood is thicker than water and the ties of nature cause men to forget the honors heaped upon them which, after all, are empty compared with the fullness there is in the just pride and love that comes from one's very own.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

SHARING HOME

"Now Betsy, we'll have to wash our dishes," said mother, and three year old Betsy gravely stood by with a polishing towel. She polished the teacups and saucers and such small objects as she could handle as mother finished drying them.

"I want to teach her to share in the home. She must feel that everything that is here is as much hers as ours. She must learn to do the house work, learn to manage a house, and I believe that if she knows that she has a share in this house, that it is her responsibility as well as ours, she will learn faster and better. I think it gives her a better attitude toward home, somehow."

So do I. If a girl grows up in a house where everything is Mine, never by any happy accident Hers, she will have little affection and less interest in the place. There is no fun in washing other folks' dishes. You can wash your own with positive affection but to wash those belonging to somebody else is a far different matter.

I once heard a little girl say to a guest, "We have some lovely old cups that belonged to my great grandmother," and her mother called out, "We? Where did you get that We? Have a toad in your pocket? I want you to know those are MY cups. Wait until you own something before you say anything about WE."

The look of pain and humiliation that spread over the child's face was pitiful to one who loved children. The mother's lack of understanding was pitiful too. The day was coming when she was to reap the harvest those careless words had sown. Her daughter was going to go out of the home that she had no share in and leave her mother a lonely bitter woman.

Share home with the children. It inspires Jackie with a sense of power to have his father say, "Well, son, we'll have to clean our car this afternoon. What do you say?" It makes a girl feel as big as Queen Elizabeth to have her mother say, "We're going to have Mrs. Sweeting here for dinner Wednesday night. What'll we have for desert? Which plates do you think we ought to use for the salad? Shall we have coffee in the living room or at the table?

When children grow up feeling that home belongs to them equally with their brothers and sister and fathers and mothers they have something very fine in the secret places of their spirits. From it they draw courage and strength and faith. They will not run away either to find happiness in work among strangers or in a marriage of convenience.

The love of home is an anchor in the storm. Only by letting the children share in its life and its responsibilities can they know true affection for the roof that sheltered them and the love that guarded their happiness. Make it We and Our and Us. You have no idea of the difference it makes.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

POOR LITTLE GIRL

The movie lady's lot is not
As happy as one fancies,
When she is off or on the lot
She's always taking chances.
Like other girls she'd like, no doubt
Sometimes to cut up capers
But if somebody found it out
And put it in the papers
Announcing also that she was
Extremely prepossessing
She probably would faint because
She'd find it so distressing.

The movie lady's friends each day
Must take good care to warn her
That never should she dare to stray
Beyond the nearest corner
Because, as she might well infer,
Her features are so handsome
That wicked men may capture her
And hold her for a ransom.
And if the public ever learned
That some rough, horrid bandit
For weeks and weeks had her interned
Why, she could hardly stand it.

She dare not buy a costly stone
Because she could not bear it
To have it very shortly known
That it was eighty carat.
When she goes touring now and then,
She must keep under cover
Because the wicked picture men
May make some portraits of her.
And this is always her advice
To every Sue or Sadie
Who thinks the picture game is nice:
"Don't be a movie lady!'

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE CHRISTENING

An old man of some seventy years being called upon to make some remarks at a Christening responded as follows:

We have gathered here today to consecrate this child by baptism to the service of God, which means the service of humanity.

We hail this child as one of the coming generation, one of those who are to take up the torch of progress which is beginning to totter in older hands. Age is creeping upon us all, but, thank God, youth is springing up all about us to take up the problems we have left unfinished.

We wish for this child, therefore, and for all children, a sounder body than our own, a stronger mind and a purer soul.

Let him be vigorous and strong, for no one can help the weak and inefficient except those who have stores of strength in themselves!

Let his mind be furnished with sound knowledge and the training of a deep wisdom! A man's value to the world is coming more and more to mean the value of his mind.

May he have quick hands and strong, but above all may they be directed by a straight-thinking and active brain!

But most of all we wish for him and for all his fellows that cleanness of soul and that highness of ideals that shall equip him nobly to bear his part in the drama of life.

We who are older look back with regret upon much that we have done. May he learn from our experience and profit by our mistakes!

What does it means to us to wish this young voyager success as he is getting under way for his life? May he successfully live out all storms! May his ship staunchly buffet the waves and may at last he reach port crowned with success!

We ourselves have lived in a wonderful age. Some of us have seen the rise of the telephone, the radio and the airplane. What greater wonders shall he not see! We envy the part that he shall play in his generation.

The interesting thing about this earth is not that men die, but that life continues. Go tell it to the stars about us that on this planet the earth greens every Spring and flowers bloom anew, and dusty youth takes up the program of life where their elders lay it down.

Go, therefore, O child of promise, to greet better days!

We hand you a world cursed with war, cursed with noxious drugs and with all forms of insanity. May it be yours to help make this world a better place to live in. May you be free from superstition and the trammels of the past! May you have boldness enough to carry out your profoundest convictions! May your hands and feet be unshackled from the fetters of fear!

To the generation that shall succeed you, may you give a better world!

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

MAN TAKES TO THE AIR

The other day I was riding through Kentucky southward; the train passed a winding dirt road that led away into the hills; and I was wondering whether it led to the drabness of isolation or to the divinity of adventure.

"See that road?" said a Kentuckian sitting near me. "Up that road is a hamlet of a few houses. In one of them lives an old man of 85 who has a brother living ten miles away, and he has not seen him for forty years. There's no family feud on. He just doesn't travel."

The life of this old man, rooted to the soil, stood in vivid contrast to a telephone conversation I had at midnight the night before. I was having difficulty in reaching an engagement in North Carolina on time. My friend, a Raleigh banker, offered to arrange for my flying from Louisville to Raleigh. A few hours in the air would have made the journey that took a night and a day and a half.

The old man of the Kentucky hills and the lithe lads that fly the air are the yesterday and the tomorrow of American civilization.

When the men of the air have completed the necessary trinity of safety, certainty, and speed, the airplane will rapidly remake America.

We have hardly caught the first hesitant rays of the dawn of the air age; it is only a question of time until we shall be turning out cheap and safe airplanes by mass production; and the airplane will then supersede the motor as the motor superseded the buggy.

The average citizen will fly his cheap plane as he now drives his cheap car.

Distance will be thought of in hours instead of miles. For some time a mile will mean a mile in terms of the time it used to take to cover it by land travel, but the next generation or the one after will think of miles in terms of the new time values.

Our cities will be transformed; their form of building will be altered to provide roof landings; their congestion will be broken up, for men will be able to live a hundred miles from their offices with less inconvenience than is now suffered by the nearby commuter.

The frontiers of the map will lose their meaning; customs officers at frontiers will seem increasingly silly to men who fly; the gods of extreme nationalism may have to recruit vigorously to keep their temples filled with worshippers.

The frontiers of the mind will lose their meaning; it will be increasingly difficult to hate the foreigner to whom you wave a greeting as you fly over his fields week after week.

And yet—all these prophecies may be knocked into a cocked hat by an air war that civilization will be unable to withstand!

Good Reading

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

One question in which all newspaper men are interested, and in which everyone should be, is as to how far people want what is called good reading, informative stuff appealing to intelligent people. Some folks claim that the majority of people nowadays are interested only in light trash.

Ray Long, editor in chief of the International Magazine company, remarks that serious literature is being much demanded by Americans. Over in England, he says, the really important books have only a small sale, but over here a fine work on some serious subject will have a big sale.

It is perhaps true that our people do not read for mere information as much as they did once. An article on China which merely supplied information about the people of that country, might not interest our folks much. But if they were offered one which showed how American trade with China could be greatly increased, they might read it. It would seem to touch their personal interests.

Two controlling motives with American people are ambition, and their reaction to stories that have a romantic and thrilling quality. They are interested in people who go out and do things, more than they are in description. Any writer who can put his information into story form showing how people have done things that were considered impossible, will always get readers.

Anything that touches people's personal interests touches them. They might not read a general article on good government, but if you show them that they are paying too much in taxes because the government wastes money, they they get interested.

In time people will learn that to obtain success for their ambitions, they must be well informed. Those who go through life with only a smattering of information and who have made no effort to read good newspapers, magazines and books, and keep informed on what is going on in the world, are too superficial for any considerable success.

Voting Blind

San Diego Union

Mr. Hoover has taken a beating in Indiana, and that state's 33 delegates will go to the convention pledged to support Senator Watson. Since Watson has no more chance of nomination than Harpo Marx has, Indiana has merely contributed 33 votes for the use of the boys in the back room, in case they see fit to try to nominate somebody. A favorite-son vote is nothing more nor less than a public indorsement of secret diplomacy in politics. It is no tribute to the good faith of the candidate who obtains it, and no compliment to the intelligence of the voters who give it.

Indiana has not gone Watson. It has gone anonymous.

Manufacturing California

Oakland Tribune

Census Bureau figures which used to show California as a leading state in agriculture, now disclose, also, the manufacturing importance of a commonwealth which has developed in amazing manner. A quarter of a century ago, it is set down, there were less than 100,000 wage-earners employed in California manufactories and the total value of their output was something like 400 million dollars. Now there are 250,000 industrial workers, earning 350 million dollars a year and producing goods valued at two billion five hundred million dollars a year!

Time to Smile

THE SECRET

"I thought your wife's name was Elizabeth."
"So it is."
"Then why do you call her Peggy?"
"Short for Pegasa."
"What has that to do with it?"
"Why Pegasa is feminine for Pegasus."
"Well?"
"Well, Pegasus is an immortal steed."
"What of that?"
"Not so loud! She's in the next room. You see, an immortal steed is an everlasting nag—so there you are."—Tit-Bits.

The bombed king of Italy
Fame now has lit; all he Did once was dumb, but he
Now seems like somebody.

When the hot weather really comes we'll bet an old pair of pants guards against a 1921 straw hat that there are still some people who will be terribly surprised about it.

Wonder how it happened that Pilot Levine didn't get to go to [illegible] some way?
